ANNUAL REPORT

— OF —

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE,

OF THE TOWN OF DANA,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING FEBRUARY 20th, 1885.

To the Citizens of Dana:

We present our annual report of the progress, and present condition of the schools.

Having made a careful study of the needs and possibilities of improvement in the different schools, we have endeavored to supply their wants, and assist the teachers in their efforts to improve the condition of their respective schools. After a careful review of the work done during the past year, we are confident the result as a whole, will compare favorably with any equal period of time during which we have been connected with the schools.

Where the result has failed to be wholly satisfactory, open disparagement of the teacher, indifference with regard to punctuality of attendance, and a low estimate of the value of education, have borne their well known fruits of disobedience and its punishment, idleness, absence and its consequent loss of interest, and as the natural result complaints from the parents of the delinquent children that the teacher is not the right one for the place. We trust that those who feel that their children have not made so good progress as is desirable will calmly and rationally review the work of the past year and see if by word or act of theirs, the children have been encouraged to go forward in the path that leads to wisdom, knowledge, and virtue; if not, then a grave responsible rests with them to help rouse the ambition that indolence and ill-doing has well nigh destroyed, and cause the children to understand that they are partly responsible for their own success or failure.

We believe that in all our school rooms, justice, truthfulness, courtesy and kindness to others are faithfully taught; but a fair candid judgment, free from selfish bias, the kindly thought that finds expression in word and deed, the use of correct language instead of slang phases and profanity, and the manliness and womanliness of character which finds deceit and untruthfulness revolting,—these qualities must chiefly result from that cultivation of heart and mind which the true home only can furnish.

It has encouraged us very much to find that so many parents and friends have visited our schools the past year: let all continue the good work and induce others to do the same, until the children feel that the whole community desire to see them improving their advantages; these advantages might be greater if some of our schools were united, for instance, $113 would furnish every school in town with 3 1-2 weeks more schooling than we have been able to furnish this year.

If it were possible to unite so that only four schools would have to be supported, still better results could be secured, among these would be grading, and classing of pupils, so that advancement would be more rapid and thorough, and the certainty that the older pupils could be given an opportunity to learn many branches which in ungraded schools cannot be taught for lack of time. We hope all will consider the matter.

Meanwhile let us have an advance all along the line—an advance in attendance, punctuality, diligence, and good behavior of the children, in interest of parents, and in that charity which enables all to overlook some slight imperfections where right motives lead to good results.

LENGTH OF SCHOOLS.

The Village, Plain, and Central schools have had twenty-nine weeks, the North 26 and the South 28. The latter closed before it could be known that any school in town would have a winter term of nine weeks.

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

This school was taught the past year by Miss Alice P. Fay. Great credit is due to her for her faithfulness in the discharge of her arduous duties. The weather, bad traveling and sickness, together with the indifference of a few parents rendered the attendance during the Winter term very unsatisfactory. Still good results proved the thoroughness of instruction, and the school is left in unusually good condition. Many parents and friends attended the closing examination.

VILLAGE SCHOOLS.

These schools under their former teachers have made steady progress during the year. An unabated interest was proved by the constant attendance of the pupils, and the number of visitors during, and at the close of the several terms.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

This school was again taught by Mrs. Doubleday. Her work was satisfactory to the Committee. It would be difficult to find another teacher willing and able to do so well by this school. In this school as well as at the Central the average attendance has had an unfavorable effect.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Smith this school has continued in a prosperous condition. Few schools can show better results. Credit is due to all parties interested.

NORTH SCHOOL.

This school, though very small, has again been successfully taught by Miss Nellie Doubleday. That she has succeeded in keeping up the interest in so small a school proves her ability and faithfulness.

BOOKS FURNISHED BY THE TOWN.

During the year books and other school supplies, required by law, have been furnished at an expense to the town of $144.83.

In supplying books, we have endeavored to form classes, and supply them in such manner as would insure the best results under the new law, and yet make the cost as small as possible during this and next year. But few have purchased books during the year.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

But little has been spent the past year upon our school buildings. We think the sum spent for school books could have been better employed in making our school rooms attractive and comfortable. As there was not a sufficient number of blackboards at the South, Central and Village Primary rooms; the lack was partially supplied by having one made for the South, and Village Primary at a cost of $150 each. To correspond with the rest of the interior, better lumber ought to be used for the Central than we were able to procure last Fall.

Reading Charts costing $5.30 were furnished the Central school.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE TOWN OF OANA,

FOR THE

Year ending Feb. 22d, 1886.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE TOWN OF DANA,

FOR THE

Year ending Feb. 22d, 1886.

TO THE CITIZENS OF DANA:

We present for your consideration our report of the progress and the present condition of the schools committed to our care. We have endeavored to give to each school our most careful and earnest consideration in order that we might judge intelligently concerning the needs, the particular advantages or disadvantages, the possibilities, the progress and the condition of each.

In our report of last year we suggested that the number of pupils at the North School viz. three, did not warrant its continuance. In accordance with the views then presented, and as one of the three pupils voluntarily asked permission, which was granted, to attend another school, it seemed best to discontinue this school and to provide conveyance to other schools, for these pupils. The expense of this conveyance of course can not be defrayed from the money appropriated by the town for schools, but your committee have thought this the better course to take in the matter and suggest a suitable appropriation for this purpose for the ensuing year.

We desire to remind the citizens of Dana that no town in our vicinity possesses better natural advantages for good schools than do we. Good schools should be the pride of every citizen and we think we may honestly take much encouragement in the fact that our pupils of all ages compare favorably with those who come from other and in some respects, more highly favored communities

We are however, very deficient in certain school furnishings such as maps, charts of various kinds, drawing cards, globes, and apparatus for illustrating various studies, which are really of great importance and of great help to the teacher. We have appropriated $50.00 this year to supply so far as may be this need and we hope that this may serve as a precedent to be followed in ensuing years, till our school houses are properly equipped with these helps.

There were, upon the first of May last, one hundred and seven (107) children between the ages of five and fifteen in Dana. We have supported during the year five schools. We have employed the best teachers possible with the money at our command and we believe that the result of the year's work will compare favorably with those which have preceded it. We have found our teachers careful and pains-taking, and generally the pupils willing and eager to succeed in their studies and to conform to the rules of the school room. But neither committee, teachers, or pupils should rest content with doing well in the past, for improvement and advance are always possible and no class should be more mindful of this than those to whom we commit the care and instruction of our children. Our parents indeed should not consider that in providing school rooms and teachers that their duty is ended and that all responsibility rests thereafter with the teacher. To be sure, that of the teacher is great but that of the parent is not less. It is the duty of parents to often visit the school room, to form an acquaintance with the teacher in charge of their children, to see that the school room is properly supplied with the necessary apparatus to illustrate the school studies, that the children are constant in attendance, and well behaved, for parents are more largely responsible for the behavior of their children than they are apt to regard themselves. Teachers and parents should be in harmony and constant communication for their interests in this matter are identical. When they cease to be so there is something seriously wrong. It is easy, very easy, to place serious obstacles in the way of a teacher for children read very surely, and are very apt to do what they shrewdly suspect will not be disapproved at home, if not actually encouraged. It is quite as easy on the other hand, to so influence a child at home that the success of a teacher shall be assured. So we say to each and every parent: We wish your help in every possible way, to improve our schools; we wish your sympathy and your encouragement as shown by your presence in the school room; we wish you to visit them often, not merely a visit of ceremony at the closing exercises of the term but during term time when you will see them in their every day work and be able to judge what they are doing from one time to another. We have been much pleased by the frequent visits of parents and friends to some of our schools.

Greater interest upon the part of scholars has been developed thereby, and greater progress made. We hope in the year to come every school in town will be more freely visited than in the past. We have endeavored to keep in mind the fact that in a very few years at least, these scholars in our schools today, will take our places and that upon us at this time rests the grave responsibility to so teach and train them that they may go out of our school into life, fitted, as far as may be possible to face the world and to take the part of true men and true women in the struggles and labors which will arise in after life.

During the past year the Central, South, and Plain schools have had thirty-three weeks of school. The village schools will have thirty, owing to sickness in the family of the teachers, and the desire to retain in these schools well tried and faithful teachers.

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

This school being the largest in town, calls for unusual interest on the part of parents, pupils, and teachers to insure good results. We have endeavored to secure as teachers, only such as had proved their fitness by their success in teaching ungraded schools.

It has been necessary to change teachers each term during the year, but notwithstanding this disadvantage, an unusually good year's work has been done. The instruction given by each teacher has been most thorough, and the long terms have been a great advantage.

Much credit is due to those pupils who by their good work have made this a pleasant school to teach.

NORTH DANA PRIMARY SCHOOL.

This school has been in charge of Mrs. E. L. Carter, a faithful conscientious, and successful teacher, for several years.

Her long continued service is evidence of the satisfaction with which your committee regard her efforts to make this school what it really is—one of the best and brightest schools of this grade, which we have ever been permitted to visit.

NORTH DANA MIXED SCHOOL.

Miss M. J. Richardson still continues in charge of this school, which under her unremitting care has attained a high standard of scholarship, which it easily maintains. Much improvement has been manifest during the past year. These schools illustrate in a marked manner, the advantage of retaining well tried and faithful teachers, from year to year, and the superior scholarship in these schools we attribute to this fact alone.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

During the spring and fall terms this school was taught by Miss Nellie Doubleday, with whose work we feel well satisfied. Earnest, careful and painstaking in her work, we regard her as a very promising and successful teacher.

During the winter term Mr. M. T. Knapp was in charge of the school. This simple statement is sufficient guarantee of thorough work and marked improvement during the term.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

Mrs. Smith as teacher has instructed the pupils of this school with her usual care and ability.

The fact that this school ranks one of the first in town in scholarship is proof that all parties interested have improved their opportunities.

ROLL OF HONOR.

The following are the names of those who have been neither absent nor tardy; the number after each name indicates the number of terms:

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

Hattie Tolman 3, Emma Grover 3, Lucy Grover 2, Alice Brown 2, James White 2, Carl Stevens 1, James Goodman 1, Harry Blackmer 1, Minnie Huntoon 1.

Clara Sprague 1, Florence Lindsey 2, Georgie Woods 1, Mabel Weeks 1, Lizzie Hunter 1, Lucy Hunter 1, Nellie Maynard 1, Frank Gilbert 1, Gracie Bosworth 1.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

May Smith 3, Maud Smith 3, Florence Lincoln 2, Harry Whitney 1, Guy Stevens 3, Geo. E. Stevens 3, Leon Stevens 3, Lizzie Stevens 3, Gertie Reynolds 1, Alice Reynolds 1.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

Effie Lindsey 2, Alice Towne 2, Luella Huntoon 1, Bertha Goodman 2, Eva Thayer 1, Frank Edson 1.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

At Dana Centre we have a cheerful and pleasant school room with modern furniture, which needs only a few maps and charts upon its walls to be a model school room. It is an honor to the town. At the South school house we would suggest that the stove which did service some twenty-five years ago when one of your committee first taught school, has at last outlived its usefulness and safety, and that a new stove will soon be necessary here. With this addition and a few new curtains which seem very much needed, this room would be very pleasant.

At the Brick school house upon the plain the interior is sadly in need of repairs. It should be thoroughly examined by some person of experience in such matters, and nothing should be done unadvisedly. It is probable that the whole interior will have to be made new in the near future if a school is to be maintained, and there appears to be a sufficient number of scholars in the district to require a school.

At North Dana both school rooms have been recently papered, which add much to the fine appearance of the rooms. The most urgent need here is a change from the hard, uncomfortable and unhygienic seats and desks, to more comfortable and more modern furniture.

The North school house has been provided with blinds or shutters to protect the property from mischievous or wanton injury.

Annual Report

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE

TOWN OF DANA

for the Year 1886-7.

To the Citizens of Dana:

We again present for your reconsideration our report of the condition of the several schools in town, their progress and the manner in which the money entrusted to our care has been expended.

It has been our aim to consider the wants of the several schools, and to provide for them so as to obtain the best possible results with the means at our command.

We feel that we can justly say that our schools for the past year have been as successful, and the results equally as good, as in any previous year.

Each school has been furnished with twenty-nine weeks schooling, except the one known as the North School, which, at the commencement of the year, lacked a sufficient number of scholars to warrant a profitable school; so, as in the previous year, provisions were made for conveyance to other parts of the town. But, previous to the winter term, other parties having moved into the vicinity of the above mentioned school house with children of lawful school age, it was thought advisable by the Committee to maintain another school, which consisted of one term of twelve weeks; thus making five schools of twenty-nine weeks each and one school of twelve weeks.

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

This school was taught the past year by Miss Hattie M. Whipple, an experienced and successful teacher. The instruction given was thorough, and the closing examination showed good progress.

Some classes deserve praise for exceptionally good work. The number of pupils who deserve credit for good deportment seems to increase, so that we hope the time may soon come when this school may rank as one of the first in town.

The roll of honor shows that many have tried to be regular in attendance, the average during the winter term being reduced somewhat on account of sickness and unfavorable weather.

NORTH DANA GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This school has been in charge of Miss M. J. Richardson for several years, and has developed under her careful management from a common school to a high standard of scholarship which justly deserves the name of grammar school—thus illustrating very clearly the advantages to be derived in securing good teachers and retaining them for a term of years.

NORTH DANA PRIMARY SCHOOL.

This school resumed its mark under the care of Mrs. E. L. Carter, who was well acquainted with its wants, (having had charge of it for several years,) and by her successful management not only acquired for herself a high recommendation as teacher, but so far gained the love of her pupils and the esteem of all who knew her, that it was with much regret that her request to resign her position was received at the close of the spring term.

The fall term was taught by Miss Maria Williams of Petersham, who came with good recommendations and labored hard for the welfare of her pupils, yet it was deemed necessary by your Committee to secure a new teacher for the winter term, which was taught by Miss Lizzie A. Glasheen of Templeton, who was earnest in her work and succeeded to the satisfaction of all.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

This school has been taught for several years by Mrs. Mary C. Smith, and under her charge has acquired a high rank in scholarship, which the year's work will sustain.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

This school commenced its labors under the charge of Miss Nellie Doubleday, who had taught the school before with good success, and again maintained her former reputation as teacher. At the close of the spring term Miss Doubleday expressed a desire to be released from her work, and the school for the fall term was in the care of Mrs. M. A. Doubleday, who had previously taught this school with good success, but at the closing examination the Committee discovered an evil existing in the school which Mrs. Doubleday could not in their opinion overcome, consequently a change was made in teachers, placing Miss Doubleday again in charge of the school for the winter term. The school was somewhat larger than formerly, consisting of several advanced scholars, yet the work was thorough and a marked degree of improvement was made.

NORTH SCHOOL.

This school, as has been before stated, consisted of but one term, and was taught by Mrs. Emma M. Knapp, who has had former experience in teaching. Though the school was small, she awakened an interest fully equal to some of our larger schools.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

Three of the school houses in town are in very good condition, if we may except the grammar school room at North Dana, which should be provided with modern seats. The other two—Plain and North school houses—are in need of repairs. Your Committee advised, in their last report, that the house on the Plain should be examined by persons of experience in such matters, and the necessary repairs made to make it more comfortable and tidy. We would most earnestly recommend modern seats.

The one known as the North school house is sadly in need of repairs. The chimney should be rebuilt, there should be new stovepipe and a thorough renovation throughout.

Very little has been expended during the past year for repairs. A new out-building has been provided at the Plain, and some slight repairs at the Village and North school houses—the whole not exceeding twenty dollars, including the new out-building at the Plain.

Annual Report

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE

TOWN OF DANA

FOR THE YEAR 1887-8.

To the People of Dana:

In presenting our annual report of the schools we would ask you to consider what should be the requirements that will meet the demand for good schools in this, or any town.

We are not left in ignorance concerning the meaning of the expression, "a good school," in the minds of the founders of our educational system, for it was especially enjoined upon all instructors of youth "to exert their best endeavor to impress upon the minds of the children and youth committed to their care and instruction, the principles of piety and justice, and a sacred regard to truth; love of country, humanity, and universal benevolence; industry and frugality; chastity, moderation, and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which a republican government is founded."

Herein we have the lofty ideal which is set for instructors to realize as far as possible in the practice of their professional duties, and which they are to so present that to the receptive mind the good way shall seem the best and pleasantest way. Do those statutes leave it to teachers only to perform this good work? Not so; those holding the highest local offices and the leaders of society were called upon to aid in securing the accomplishment of the purposes of the law.

The requirements remain the same to-day as when those enactments were made,—the same virtues form the basis of society and are the safeguards against tyranny and misrule. But of the schools much more is expected than in those early days, and to every rank in society we must look for aid in this work; not unwilling, grudging help, but help denoting the steadfast purpose which says "no vicious habit shall prevail to lead our children astray, and darken their prospects in life if MY influence can have any weight."

Let us consider in what way the weight of your influence can best effect this purpose. The way in some cases can be made clear in a very few words: See that your own children—if you send any to school—DO RIGHT. Do not depend upon their word alone for the proof, but visit the school-room; if they are not found attending to their own proper school duties you can depend upon it that the fault is not wholly on the part of the teacher, and the correction, like charity, should begin at home. The time when mischievous proclivities might be taken as an evidence of a bright intellect has gone by. Good brain development will give a different evidence of its power. We believe no child comes from a well ordered home to be a source of trouble at school.

If frequent complaints are made that a teacher is partial in instructing or correcting one pupil more than another, look for failure of duty on the part of the complainant. If roughness at play causes hard feeling, lend your influence by requiring that all shall keep the peace.

Vulgarity of speech and profanity will not be disturbing elements in a community where public sentiment disapproves and home influence is against it. You have a right to demand that the instructors of your children shall exemplify in their lives the virtues they are required to impress on the minds of your children.

Above all, your interest in the school must never be allowed to slacken or your influence fail to strengthen the authority of those who faithfully try to fulfil their obligations as instructors of the children.

During the year our schools were visited by Mr. Walton, an agent of the Board of Education.

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

VILLAGE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The spring term was taught by Miss Nellie Gordon, an experienced teacher of remarkably easy and firm government and excellent qualifications. A deficiency in drill in the higher class in arithmetic was noted as the only lack.

The fall term under Miss Lizzie A. Glasheen, who was promoted from the Primary school, showed even better results than her work in the lower department. Special improvement was noted in the reading classes, an effect in part, probably, of suggestions given by Mr. Walton of the State Board of Education, and followed out by the teacher.

The winter term, also under the charge of Miss Glasheen, showed continued good work by teacher and pupils.

VILLAGE PRIMARY SCHOOL.

SPRING TERM.

This school, under charge of Miss Lizzie A. Glasheen, showed good results, as was to be expected from the teacher's previous work in the same school.

The fall term, with Miss Lizzie W. Richardson as teacher, showed the lack of experience in the teacher who was a graduate of Salem Normal school, and came highly recommended. In government there was a deficiency which was fatal to good work, and was realized and regretted by teacher as well as by parents and committee, and which experience only can supply.

The winter term, under Miss H. S. Farwell as teacher, immediately showed an experienced hand at the helm, and an excellent school was taught by her. Considerable sickness in the neighborhood caused a poor average of attendance which could not be avoided.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

This school was placed under the instruction of Miss Nellie Doubleday during the first term, and was taught with her usual success. The younger as well as older pupils gave evidence of her ability.

Not being able to secure her services again, Miss Mabel Emmons was engaged for the second term. Though without experience, the result proved her to be capable of becoming a successful teacher.

The third term brought another change, and to Mr. M. T. Knapp, whose former work in this school had proved very satisfactory, was given the charge of the school. A large proportion of the pupils this term were well advanced in their studies and attended for the purpose of improving their opportunities. Expecting much, we were not disappointed in the work accomplished.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

This school, the largest in town and for many reasons the most difficult, has been taught by E. L. Carter, an experienced and successful teacher, who has labored most earnestly for the good of all her pupils. The closing examination showed that a good year's work had been performed by all who were faithful to their duties.

A great gain was noted in quickness of thought as evinced by ready replies to questions and the rapid, confident movement of the crayon in several exercises at the board, dictated by the committee.

The progress of some of the little ones in reading and arithmetic we think cannot be surpassed. With an earnest, honorable spirit animating all, as it now does many of the pupils in this school, it might be not only the largest, but one of the most interesting in town.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

This is the only school in town which has not had 30 weeks in the school year, 28 weeks instead. The first term was brought to a sudden close by the appearance of scarlet fever in a family living very near the school house.

Though a small school, it is one pleasant to visit from the fact that it has several very intelligent pupils, well advanced in the studies pursued, who are very much in earnest in their efforts to acquire knowledge; this earnestness has been well sustained by the teacher, Mrs. Smith, and the closing examination, disclosing as it did, independence of thought on the part of the pupils, was one of the most satisfactory ever conducted by the visiting committee.

Considerable attention has been paid to language lessons as a part of the regular work of our schools; originality in expression of thought with grammatical correctness being the object sought at the Plain and South schools while taught by Mr. Knapp and Mrs. Smith. At the Central school elementary work has been introduced, thereby giving practice to many of the younger as well as older pupils. The result has been good.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

For several years the school committee have desired to see all the school-rooms provided with modern furniture. As the desks in one room at North Dana and those at the Plain were not only unsightly, but uncomfortable, and injurious to the weaker pupils—therefore unfit for use—they felt called upon to perform the duty prescribed in Sec. 46 of School Laws. According to this section, suitable school furniture must be provided by the town under penalty of "a fine of not less than $500, nor more than $1000." It is further stated in explanation of this Section that "it is the duty of the school committee to keep the houses in good condition for the convenience, comfort, and health of the children and their teachers."

Accordingly desks were purchased for both rooms, a discount equal to a year's interest on the whole sum expended being made because furniture was bought for both, instead of one room. This property citizens are taxed to procure; it now remains for public sentiment to indorse the action of the committee, when, to protect this property from wilful injury by pupils, they inflict a fine for such injury.

Mr. Walton, agent of the State Board of Education, says, "there is not a court in the state which would not require the payment of such a fine." Much is left to the discretion of the committee in such cases, but the law regarding them is as follows, Public Statutes, Chap. 203, Sec. 78:

"Whoever willfully and maliciously, or wantonly and without cause destroys, defaces, mars or injures a school house, church, or other building erected or used for purposes of education or religious instruction, or for the general diffusion of knowledge, or an out-building, fence, well, or appurtenance of such a school house, church, or other building, or furniture, apparatus or other property belonging to or connected with such school house, church, or other building, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment in jail not exceeding one year."

A fence—long needed—was built around the school grounds at North Dana, the expense of which was much below carpenters' estimates through the careful management of C. N. Doane, who was selected as their purchasing agent by the committee appointed for this purpose by the town. The details of the work and attendant trouble were therefore borne by him.

A stove was purchased for the South School and the desks at the Central and South school rooms were varnished; two coats of varnish were needed to put them in good condition. The cost of stove, new zinc, varnish, work and incidental expenses was $16.50. The expense of ordinary repairs has been very light.

ANNNUAL REPORT

OF THE

School Committe

OF THE

TOWN OF DANA

For the Year 1888-9

To the People of Dana:

We make our annual report of the schools and submit a few thoughts for their consideration, believing that with some our words will be sufficient to win a helpful response when the children are again assembled—not merely for instruction in text book lore, but for lessons in self-control and self discipline, which must be taught in every well regulated school, as well as in the homes of the children. If this was not true, and our schools were not intended to teach equal rights and a corresponding respect for the rights of others, then we should not see such excitement as was lately manifested if our free school system is threatened by any danger.

That loyalty to this institution of our country may never be less, and that its benefits may be recognized by all, it should be our pride to prove it as nearly faultless as possible, by keeping manners and morals free from reproach, so that none can scornfully say it is a source of evil.

We hear much from public speakers—addressing country audiences—about the wholesomeness of life in the country, because free from the temptations which beset the youth of cities and large towns; yet it is well to remember that no place is free from corrupting and debasing influences which must be guarded against, lest, in the absence of advantages which the cities possess, our country life may lose its charm.

What is sown must be reaped, and others, as well as the sower, must taste the bitter fruit of the harvest. This law is inevitable, yet some will scatter the tares thoughtlessly if the counsel and example of those older and wiser does not restrain the childish hands.

Chief among the corrupting influences which beset the children, and one of the arguments brought against our public school system, is the use of foul language, such as might be expected from children brought up in city slums and educated for a life of vice and crime, but of which children of respectable parents, whether in city or country, should be ashamed.

What parent among us would be willing to admit that bad teaching at home, or lack of proper training has placed his children, in this respect, on a level with the ignorant and debased class to which we have referred; yet such children are found in country schools, and the schools and their teachers are not responsible for their ill-conditioned minds; doubtless the parents are often unaware that their children are guilty of speech, which reflects discredit upon them. There is a legal remedy for this evil—severe it is true. A correct public sentiment, and wholesome parental restraint and counsel, would render it unnecessary to resort to other measures.

A large proportion of our citizens have no personal knowledge of what is being done for the children in our schools; if they are sufficiently interested to inquire of the children they get but an imperfect idea, which a visit to the school-room might wholly change.

Lack of interest on the part of parents often results in lack of interest on the part of the child, and the most trivial excuses are considered sufficient to gain consent that the child may remain at home. Classes of which they were members pass on, and they are left behind, and finally pass out of the schools without the mental power to become what, but for the indifference of parents, they were capable of being.

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

It was the intention of the committee to have twenty-nine weeks' schooling. This intention has been carried out except at the Central school where the prevalence of whooping cough rendered it unadvisable to have more than twenty-eight weeks.

The Village Grammar school has not yet closed. The sickness and death of the teacher, Nellie Doubleday, having caused a temporary interruption of the work. Gifted in mind, strong in spirit, and faithful and true in the performance of life's duties, home and the community have met with a great loss by her decease, yet to all sorrowing friends the assurance comes that she has passed beyond the shadows of earth into the glorious light of immortality.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

This school has had the advantage of being taught another year by E. L. Carter, whose faithful and untiring service last year showed her to be well fitted to cope with the numerous difficulties to be encountered in this school. Though a large, ungraded school with many classes, most thorough instruction has been given to all, and a great amount of work with corresponding progress is the just record of the year.

Though an assistant was employed to hear some of the recitations, the instruction was given almost wholly by the principal, and the credit for progress made should, in fairness, be ascribed to her energy and faithfulness, which must be recognized by all candid minds.

Especial praise must be given to many pupils for the advancement which they have made. The primary classes rank the highest in town; of a part of the intermediate classes the same may be said, and we are confident that the pupil of the highest grade in school has improved as much as any of her age in town.

VILLAGE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This school under the charge of Miss Nellie Doubleday, has continued to hold its high rank of the past. Seldom has it been the good fortune of your committee to visit so interesting a school, largely on account of the age and character of its scholars, who, aided by a teacher whose zeal never tired and whose strength never failed them, however much she may have suffered herself, have, as a whole, done honor to themselves and the teacher.

The death of Miss Doubleday in the midst of the winter term has taken from us one whose future seemed to hold rare promise of usefulness in her chosen vocation.

Your committee, at the solicitation of some of the parents, thought best to continue the school for the remaining three weeks under the charge of Miss H. S. Farwell, whose term at this time is not closed.

VILLAGE PRIMARY SCHOOL.

This school has also been fortunate in continuing under the charge of so experienced a teacher as Miss H. S. Farwell. Her work has been thorough and the attendance good as a whole, though some of the parents have been lax in enforcing attendance, for no other reason than the "don't want to" of their children, an example of which was seen at the examination for the last term.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

This school was under the care and instruction of Miss Minnie A. Williams during the spring term. Parents and pupils were pleased with her work, but as she procured a better situation, a change became necessary. The remainder of the year the school was in the charge of Miss Olive E. Childs. Though without previous experience as a teacher she proved herself to be of more than ordinary ability, and the school gained much under her instruction. Some of the work of pupils was excellent.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

This school was taught during the first two terms by Mary C. Smith, whose long connection with the school has been appreciated by all interested. With regret the committee found it necessary to procure another in her place which was filled by Miss Mabel M. Emmons. So small a school rarely keeps the interest manifested here. Regularity of attendance, except on account of sickness, is the rule of this school. Good progress was made by all during the three terms.

ANNUAL REPORT

—: OF :—

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF DANA,

— FOR THE —

YEAR OF 1889-90.

ANNUAL REPORT

—: OF THE :—

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE TOWN OF DANA,

FOR THE YEAR 1889–90.

TO THE CITIZENS OF DANA:

On preparing our annual report the question always recurs to my mind, how shall I present the thoughts and motives which have actuated us in preparing and conducting the work assigned us so that we may retain and increase your interest in our schools.

No worthy thought ever reached fulfilment without awakening in other minds a response which carried that thought as an influence for good to others.

It is equally true that plans and purposes often fail because of opposition which would not exist if the plan or purpose was seen from our point of view.

It should be remembered that no one is so good or wise that some one will not question the goodness or doubt the wisdom and integrity of purpose, and where this feeling exists assistance is often denied, and the best one is capable of doing cannot be accomplished for lack of sympathy or good will. This being true in other departments of labor, and in all conditions of life, it follows that it must be true of schools and all connected with them.

Looking back upon whatever of success or failure the past held we determined to improve upon that past so far as practicable. To this end changes in several text books were required and made as soon as it could be decided by careful examination and comparison what would best suit our present needs and future requirements.

In some cases the cost of exchange and furnishing new books to the schools was no greater than would have been the expense of providing classes with needed books of the old series.

Charts were provided for all the schools from last year's balance.

Where vacancies have occurred, teachers who could furnish satisfactory recommendations were sought, and only such were engaged to teach in our schools.

No one who has thoughtfully studied life and realized its difficulties, discouragements and perplexities, can fail to know that it is no light task a teacher has to perform who gives time, thoughtful interest and painstaking care to develop the talents with which nature has endowed her pupils so that they shall realize that their minds may become storehouses of pleasant and useful information, increasing in value in proportion to their efforts to do well their part in securing the treasures of knowledge.

The teacher of today, who would not be placed upon the retired list, must be alert, progressive, and conscientiously labor for the moral, intellectual and social well-being of those entrusted to her care, and at the same time strive to develop a method of teaching which will prove of practical value to her pupils through life.

The one rule which is the foundation of all moral instruction was given centuries ago when Christ taught his disciples, saying, "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to yon, do ye even so to them."

We may claim that the intellect is properly cared for when effort is constantly made to awaken the true student spirit, a love of knowledge for its own sake, and that social instruction is inseparably connected with the moral.

We have the co-operation of many. We know that the interests of parents is in their children's advancement and that not a few will aid us in our efforts for further improvement, and since "a good school cannot exist until created by a good teacher" may we not reasonably ask of all that they give to those who are trying to do their duty by the children their cordial meed of appreciation, and that where a difference of opinion exists they will accord this measure of justice, to judge, after a hearing of both sides, with fairness, as they would wish to be judged.

In the schools of small towns some variations from the methods of teaching followed in cities and large towns must be expected. The best interests of all render this necessary. But it should not be forgotten by those who would prefer the old methods that it is for the interest of the children to have such instruction given as will enable them to rank well elsewhere. We fail in our purpose if we do not succeed in this.

We have said many times, we say again, visit our school rooms in friendly spirit as frequently as you can. Your presence, even if your visits are brief, will benefit the schools.

But for the prevalent epidemic, and other causes, our school year would have been longer and our balance less.

The Village schools have had thirty-two, the Plain school thirty-three and the Central will have thirty-one weeks in the school year.

Had circumstances been more favorable two or three more weeks would have been a great advantage to the older pupils.

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

VILLAGE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

For the Spring term the always doubtful experiment of hiring a teacher from the former pupils of the school was tried. Under these circumstances Mr. Arthur I. Powers taught a fairly successful school, which should be considered a prophesy of his future success as teacher, if he continues in the calling.

The Fall term, with Miss Hattie M. Whipple as teacher, gave excellent results, as the faithful work of the teacher was heartily seconded by both scholars and parents which always gives good results.

The Winter term, under Miss Josie E. Lincoln, was somewhat broken up partly through the prevalence of sickness, but still more so by the stand taken by some of the parents who allowed their children to be judges of the methods of teaching as well as government and withdrew from its attendence without consultation of either teacher or committee, and without visiting the school in person to take the evidence of their own eyes and ears.

This precedent being to the minds of your committee, a most dangerous one to the welfare of the school as a whole, and to the scholar as an individual, cannot be too strongly condemned.

VILLAGE PRIMARY SCHOOL.

The Spring term was taught by Miss Mary S. Maynard who brought to this her first school, the latest methods of instruction and a love for her chosen work, which created a zeal for learning in the minds of her scholars unknown to them before. Such being the case but one result could be expected, which was fully realized in a most successful school.

For the Fall and Winter terms the services of Miss Lucy W. Harden were secured, also a beginner in teaching, who, pursuing the same methods as her predecessor, made for herself a fine reputation as teacher, and kept up the excellent record of the school for the year.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

This school has made commendable progress during the year.

The teacher for the first term was Miss Olive Childs, whose former experience as teacher had been in the same school. In leaving the school she had the best wishes of the visiting committee for her future success.

Miss L.S.Clary succeeded her and taught the two remaining terms. Her work met the approval of all. We seldom hear appreciation of faithfullness in school work so freely expressed by parents as in her case. It is gratifying to know that parents see and approve good work.

An expression of such approval makes it easier to secure and retain good teachers.

The good work and willing spirit of the pupils in this school merit our commendation,

Language work has received especial attention during the winter term.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

On account of sickness which interrupted the work of this school, the winter term is not completed at the time of writing this report.

With this term ends three years of faithful service by the same teacher, who, by her untiring interest, not only shows, but leads the way she would have her pupils follow.

Written work in the different branches of study was required by her before it was introduced into the other schools of the town.

Language work in various forms has received especial attention, and all are interested in it.

We believe no school in town has made so great improvement during the year as this.

Perfection in school work, or the best results, cannot be expected until all do the best work of which they are capable.

In a school like this there are many discouragements which do not exist in smaller or graded schools. More frequent visits from parents would lesson these.

The attendance during the winter term has so far been very good, a large proportion having been neither absent nor tardy.

ANNUAL REPORT

—: OF :—

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF DANA,

FOR THE

YEAR 1890–91.

ANNUAL REPORT

—— OF THE ——

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF DANA,

FOR THE YEAR 1890–91.

To the Citizens of Dana:

We report that taking the schools singly and collectively, the close of the year shows a very gratifying advance in scholarship.

This gain, showing as it does the interest of the children in their work, is conclusive evidence that the teachers have performed their part with earnest purpose to do all, and more than all that was expected of them by the committee.

The year began with definite plans for study and discipline, wherever discipline had to be considered with reference to its importance as an aid to the acquirement of knowledge.

No stringent or arbitrary rules were made, but in one school it was found necessary to require that children who did not study during school hours, and consequently were receiving no benefit from being at school, should be detained after 4 o'clock to learn the lesson assigned them.

As a theory no one will question the justice of this course since the truth of the time honored maxim about idleness and mischief has always been admitted.

In practice, the effect of the rule upon all who were sent to school to learn was most salutary as the gain in scholorship attests.

One family made such determined and persistant effort to disregard this rule that one child was excluded during the winter term, because the parents, who had twice disturbed the school by going to the schoolroom and interfering with the teacher's authority by commanding the child to go home before the lesson was learned, were informed that she could not be again received as a pupil until they agreed not to further interfere with the teachers management of her while at school.

This they did not do, but contrived to secure some outside sympathy which, in one case at least, assumed that the child was abused, because for some of her misconduct, she was not horse whipped if necessary, instead of being excluded from the privilege of attendance by her own disobedience, or her parent's unwillingness to allow her to do right or do so themselves.

As the committee in charge of the school had advised that whipping should not be resorted to in this case, the teacher deserves credit—not censure—for good judgment and ladylike self control under grest provocation.

No one but the parents can be reasonably blamed for the loss of schooling which the child suffered. Others doubtless, having but an imperfect knowledge of the facts, thought the committee were unjust, but they had the good of the school to consider and have a legal right to exclude "for misconduct which injures the discipline and management of a school." The discipline was much better for this child's absence, and the cheerful attention to school duties and evident pleasure in having good lessons generally displayed by other pupils were positive proofs that they were not overtasked or harshly treated.

It is well to be sure of the truth of an ill report before one helps to circulate it, and every hardworking, conscientious teacher laboring in Christian spirit—as all our teacher's have—to elevate the moral tone and inculcate good principles in the minds of the children, should have an earnest Godspeed, a helping hand, sympathy, and good will from all.

As quite a large balance of money was at our disposal, it was decided to give the school one more advantage by using it to defray the expense of instruction in vocal music if a suitable teacher could be found.

We were very fortunate in being able to secure the services of Mrs. S. T. Smith of Athol, who has made a specialty of this work in schools.

Her work has been highly satisfactory to us and must be so to all parents who desire for their children this vocal training.

We had the ultimate good to the community in view when we introduced it, and hope the citizens of the town will be willing to add one hundred dollars to the usual appropriation to continue the work another year.

All that has been expended by the committee for this purpose was from the balance of money received from the school fund.

Our right to so use the money—if any question it—can be found in Sec. 1, Chap. 41, of the Public Statutes of Mass.

It was expected at the time we decided to have this instruction given, that all our schools would share the benefit, arrangements having been made to unite the Plain and Village schools during the fall term.

The people of the Plain district, however, opposed the plan of uniting to such a degree that it was abandoned.

We regret that the people would not give the experiment a trial for we believe they would have found it for their own interest to do so since it was purposed to unite only so long as the Plain school remained small enough to admit of good conveyance, and the Village schools could receive them without disadvantage to their own interests.

We took an impartial view of the matter, for and against uniting, stating the advantages clearly, as we thought. The thirty dollars we might have saved would have been a help to the schools another year.

The children of to-day will be the men and women of the near future, and it should be borne in mind that the education which the law requires is to enlighten the mind so that "justice, love of their country, industry, a sacred regard to truth, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society" may prevail to perpetuate that freedom for which the fathers fought, toiled and suffered.

That these virtues may be successfully taught in the schools, the homes must keep the hearts of the children pure, and their minds receptive of good. so that even they can understand the fine distinction made by Kingsley when he says, "There are two freedoms—the false where one is free to do what he likes—the true where one is free to do what he ought."

Rough, bleak, and hard, our little state
Is scant of soil, of limits strait;
Her yellow sands are sands alone,
Her only mines are ice and stone.

Yet on her rocks and on her sands
And wintry hills the schoolhouse stands.

* * * * *

The riches of the Commonwealth
Are free, strong minds and hearts of health;
And what her rugged soil denies,
The harvest of the mind supplies.

Art builds on sands, the works of pride
And human passions change and fall;
But that which shares the life of God
With him surviveth all.

—J. G. Whittier.

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

During the year, the Village schools have had thirty weeks instruction, the Plain school thirty-one, and the Central school thirty-two; the last named having had one week less than the other during each of the preceding two years, it was made up to the children this year.

VILLAGE PRIMARY SCHOOL.

Miss Lucy A. Parker has been employed as teacher of this school for the year. We are glad to note an increased interest and great advance in knowledge and ability to acquire it, as a result of the thoughtful care and thoroughness which have characterized her instruction. We hope all who have children in this school will recognize the merit of the work she has achieved.

VILLAGE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Miss Hattie M. Whipple was engaged to teach the spring term, and retained through the year. The closing examination showed that excellent progress had been made by nearly all classes. We noticed particularly the good work accomplished in grammer and geography, showing the possibilities of the school under continued instruction as faithful and thorough as that given by this teacher. Her work is thoroughly appreciated by all parties concerned.

In both the Village schools the sickness of pupils has seriously interfered with regularity of attendance.

The value of the vocal training given to these village schools is freely spoken of by the parents, who justly esteem the advantages it affords.

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The school at Dana Center was taught by Miss E. L. Richardson. The fourth year of her work in this school closed with the winter term. It has been hard, conscientious labor from the first, as the school is large and ungraded. Ranking pupils according to age and number of years attendance, the close of the year finds the school brought up from one of the lowest in rank and scholarship to the highest. The classes in arithmetic, history and geography, especially, are deserving of much credit. Last year it was the wish of the teacher to introduce vocal music, systematically taught; this year we were able to gratify her wish "to give the school this one more advantage before she left it," though she knew it would involve a considerable personal expense to her. She has paid for this purpose twenty-seven and one half dollars. We credit her with unfailing kindness, an interest that always prompted to efforts to make the lives of the children better, and work well done.

PLAIN SCHOOL.

Your committee having charge of this school submit the following report, having labored under some disadvantages, though trying to do my whole duty: The expens of the school, per capita, far exceeds that of any school in town. While we hesitate to discontinue any school, we desire to secure the greatest good to the greatest number, and that the few scholars shall have the benefit of the best advantages in town. A school of the size of this at the beginning of the last school year can not be profitably carried on, either to teacher, pupils or the town. For the spring term we were fortunate in securing a teacher of experience, Miss Lizzie Clary, who had methods of employing the time to the very best advantage and the school was a success. She would have returned had not the matter of discontinuance of the school been talked of, and when at the last moment almost, it was decided to have a school there and the matter was left wholly with one of the committee, whose desire it was that the school should continue in as good condition as before, and I engaged for the fall term Miss Grace Gibbs, who was highly recommended and whose success proved scarce less than her predecessor. But the pay was so meagre she did not feel that she could return for the winter term. By advertising for a teacher, from the several applicants I selected one, Miss Lucy Naylor, a teacher of some experience, who in my judgement was best suited for the position, and she taught the winter term, introducing some new features which made the term no less a success than the previous ones had been, and my anticipations were fully realized. The probable permanent increase in number of scholars in the district will doubtless necessitate the continuance of a school here, and I desire a cooperation with our efforts for the success of the school.

ANNUAL REPORT

—OF THE—

SCHOOL COMMITTEE,

—OF THE—

TOWN OF DANA,

—FOR THE—

FINANCIAL YEAR ENDING FEBRUARY 12, 1892.

ANNUAL REPORT

—OF THE—

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE TOWN OF DANA,

FOR THE YEAR 1891–92.

To the Citizens of Dana:

During the past year we find much to encourage us in the belief that the work we were to superintend has been carried out with good results, and also much which indicates where greater effort, and continued care, must be taken, to keep the work in the line of true progress.

All are aware that methods of teaching have undergone great changes within a few years. Educators expect that, through the methods now in use, children will pass out of the schools with much better knowledge of the branches taught, than was possible to acquire by the methods formerly used.

The teachers of the present time, however, have a much harder task to perform, since more time and thought must be given to the manner of presenting the ideas which shall quicken the desire for more thorough and extended knowledge, as well as, upon examination of the work of the children, to see if each subject is properly understood. The care, patience and interest in their pupils which all this involves, is little understood, even by those who realize that to this work is added the training and checking of all tendencies to wrong-doing, so "that spark of heavenly fire, the conscience," may remain quick to distinguish, and choose, the right.

Education of some kind every one will have; but, in the general thought, it should mean development of all the good gifts and powers with which the children are, by nature, endowed, and here the teacher should have the helpful interest of parents and friends to aid her, that the children may profit by the wise restraints which the school discipline opposes to the lawless element always, or nearly always, to be found. Remove the barrier which well-taught schools, by their influence upon mental and moral power, oppose to this element, and tyranny and oppression would soon place us upon a level with less-favored lands, whose ignorant people seek our shores: for wherein are we better than they, unless in the ability and desire which education gives us to oppose good against evil. The evils exist, like the weeds that spring up with the plants which sustain life,—care only will keep down the weeds. So our schools must be cared for, that they may send out thoughtful boys and girls, with good principles, to become honored men and women of the future.

Massachusetts claims to have originated the free public school, by an Act of 1647. Allow, once more, in a school report, a quotation, to show the spirit of those early days, when instruction was provided for, that the liberty they had sought, and won, should ever prove a priceless blessing.

Chap 5, Sect. 2, of the Constitution of Massachusetts, adopted in 1780, is as follows:

"Wisdom and knowledge, as well as virtue, diffused generally among the body of the people, being necessary for the preservation of their rights and liberties: and as these depend on spreading the opportunities and advantages of education in the various parts of the country, and among the different orders of the people, it shall be the duty of legislatures and magistrates, in all future periods of this Commonwealth, to cherish the interests of literature and the sciences, and all seminaries of them, especially the University at Cambridge, public schools and Grammar schools in the towns; to encourage private societies and public institutions, rewards and immunities for the promotion of agriculture, arts, sciences, commerce, trades, manufactures, and a natural history of the country; to countenance and inculcate the principles of humanity and general benevolence, public and private charity, industry and frugality, honesty and punctuality in their dealings; sincerity, good humor, and all social affections, and generous sentiments, among the people."

In 1789, a general Act was passed, requiring every town to maintain one school for the term of six months, or two or more schools for terms of time that shall, together, be equivalent to six months, in which shall be taught orthography, reading, writing, English grammar, geography, and decent behavior.

From time to time, legislation has increased our privileges, and our obligation to the State and nation may be stated in the general principle underlying our constitutional rights, that self interest should not conflict with the common interest and well being of all.

If, at first, from scanty means the State provided for this cause, and since then has aided with liberal hand, shall not we find it our duty to do our best to increase the advantages of schooling, and can we not unite in securing that thoughtfulness in the children which will lead all to enter the schoolroom with a desire to be, by studious habits and gentle manners, a credit to themselves and the community in which they live? If in this we can work in unison, then we help to carry out their thought.

"O, spirit of that early day,
So pure, and strong and true,
Be with us in the narrow way
Our faithful fathers knew."

Then,

"Not vainly the gift of the founder was made,
Not prayerless the stones of its corner were laid,
The blessings of Him who in secret they sought
Has crowned the good work which the Father has wrought.
To Him be the glory for ever!—We bear
To the Lord of the harvest our wheat with the tare.
What we lack in our work may be find in our will,
And winnow in mercy our good from the ill."

REVIEW OF SCHOOLS.

Four schools have been sustained this year with the money available for the purpose. We regret to say that our town, like others of low valuation, received this year less from the income of the State School Fund than has been allowed previously. From the dog tax we had about $10 less than last year; thirty-five dollars represents more than the cost of a week's schooling for all.

We furnished 30 weeks tuition at the Plain school, and shall have the same length of school at the Centre. At North Dana we have had but 29 weeks, but in these schools instruction in vocal music has been given each term.

Last spring we asked for an appropriation of $100 to continue instruction in music, Dana and North Dana schools having taken the study the previous year. Many parents at North Dana were in favor of this, but at Dana Centre it was strongly opposed by some. As a result of this opposition, the article was passed over. The committee asked for a reconsideration at the April meeting, with the same result. As parents of school children at North Dana would pay a part of the expense, the lessons were continued two terms, at a cost to us of $55.50, that amount from the income of the State fund being used for the purpose; the committee having a legal right to so use it. The winter term was paid for by subscription. At the close of the winter term an operetta was given by the schools, under the direction of Mrs. S. F. Smith, their teacher of vocal music. This entertainment proved that the children had improved their opportunities, since correctness of execution marked this public exhibition of their ability and their teacher's fitness as an instructor. The committee, at the next town meeting, will again ask for the same appropriation for this purpose. The only reason why the Centre school did not this year share in these lessons was the opposition made by parents in that village. We also asked for an appropriation by the town for the conveyance of pupils living a great distance from school. This article in the warrant met the same fate as the other. We hope at the next town meeting to receive at least the courtesy of the citizen's votes on these two articles. Children living a long distance from school, if under 8 years of age, or not strong, labor under a great disadvantage if conveyance is not provided. We believe it is the duty of the town to appropriate money for this purpose. Distance from, not the discontinuance of a school, should be the just reason for furnishing conveyance.

The North Dana Grammar school was taught by Miss E. L. Richardson. She has taught in this town many terms. Her faithfulness and energy, inspiring to the same in her pupils, is too well known to make it necessary to say good work has been done.

The Primary school was taught by Miss Eudora Lawrence. Her instruction has also given good results. We are glad to say harmony has prevailed in this school during the year, and much credit is given to the teacher.

The Dana Centre school was taught during the spring term by Miss M. E. Rogers. She was received by a portion of the school as though an enemy, and rules necessary to control the school were not easily enforced. She accomplished so much good work under these adverse circumstances, that it is only fair to say, that a different reception would have made a very great difference in the good work which could have been done. She went from us with the best wishes of the committee for her future success. Miss E. M. Nash was appointed teacher for the fall term. She was received in a different spirit, and won the goodwill of her pupils. The school being offered to her for the winter term, she accepted, and had taught but seven days, when the alarming illness of her mother called her away. For this and other reasons, there ensued a vacation of several weeks, therefore, this school is still in session, to complete the winter term. This school is the largest in town, but has a pleasant schoolroom, large enough to accommodate it. For several years no other school has outranked it in yearly progress, but this year, chiefly from difficulties in governing it, it has not, in all classes, advanced as rapidly as some others. It is the unruly element which has kept it back: remove that disturbing element and no difficulty would be found in controling or in instructing the school. Some advocate a division of the school; of this, there is no need, but good discipline must be maintained. At North Dana the schools vary in numbers from term to term. Sometimes it has seemed that it would be policy to unite them, but in every instance when it has been thought by one member of the committee to be possible to unite them, the next term the number in the primary room has increased so as to make it impossible. The number of classes at the Grammar school is now nearly the same as at the Centre. We mention these facts because many have the impression that teachers at North Dana have but little to do, and, therefore, that those schools are more highly favored than others in town Since pupils of the same age have averaged as high in scholarship in the large school as in the smaller grades, it is easy to see that this is not true, but it cannot be expected that people who have no knowledge of what is being done in the schools can judge correctly of their needs or their work.

The following report, for the Plain school, is submitted:

For the spring term, Miss Naylor, who taught the previous term, with a good degree of success, was returned, and the good work which she had begun was continued.

Her engaging in other work, necessitated a change for the remainder of the year, and Miss Clara Newell, a graduate of Northfield Seminary, and a teacher of some experience, being well recommended, was engaged and continued throughout the remainder of the year.

We feel to say that in her work she was conscientious, efficient, energetic and zealous. She gained the confidence of the parents and pupils, and merits our approbation.

The greatest draw-back in both teachers' work in this school, is its diminutive number. While we feel that the few need the same advantages as the many, we would, were it possible, substitute some method by which greater results might be obtained, than can be under the present conditions, in this district, though we feel a sense of gratification at the interest manifested here in the general regular attendance of the scholars.

We would not deprive the youngest, nor the oldest, of the advantages which rightfully to them belong, by any means; but feel to do all that lies within our limited power—(limited by cramped, pecuniary limitation)—to do the very best for all concerned.

I think I speak the mind of the whole Board, when I state this: That we feel to ask you, the people of this town, to grant us larger appropriation, that we may give to the scholars here—whose privileges are, and from necessity ever must be, less than towns of larger size,- greater advantages, by extending the year's term of school from thirty to thirty-six weeks.

We think no better use can be made of the children's time, nor of your money, than to make this change in the length of the school year.

The aggregate cost would only amount to a very insignificant sum, for each individual, while the greater gain to the young people of this and succeeding generations would more than repay all, and would largely pay for the investment.

ANNUAL REPORT

—OF THE—

SCHOOL COMMITTEE,

—OF THE

TOWN OF DANA,

—FOR THE—

FINANCIAL YEAR ENDING FEBRUARY 20 1893

ANNUAL REPORT

—OF THE—

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

—OF THE—

TOWN OF DANA,

FOR THE YEAR 1892–'93.

To the Citizens of Dana:

During the past year our experience has taught us that it is not only advisable, but our duty, to unite with other towns in this district, and have a School Superintendent, whose duty it shall be to devote all of his time and talents to the good of the school, as, under the present State law, the expense to the Town is but a trifle.

Five schools have been sustained this year with the money available for the purpose. We furnished thirty-three weeks' tuition at the Centre School, twenty-eight weeks at the Plain School and thirty weeks at North Dana.

Center School.— This school, for the past few years, has been the largest in town,—larger than one teacher could teach successfully, although we have had good teachers. At the last Annual Town Meeting, the Town voted to enlarge the Schoolhouse, which has been done, and the school graded. The spring term was under the charge of Miss Marie A. Bowers, an experienced teacher, who labored hard for the good of the school, but, owing to feeble health, was obliged to resign her duties before the close of the term. Mrs. Nellie Brown was engaged to continue the school the remainder of the term. Being an experienced teacher, she gave the best of satisfaction. The fall term the school was graded.

The Grammar School was taught by Miss Ethel F. Comerford, who came with good recommendations. She labored hard for the interest of the school, which showed good results at the close. The winter term was taught by Miss Comerford. She tried to do her part, but the scholars seemed to lose interest in the school, and, at the close of the term, the progress made was not what we wished it might have been.

The Primary School, fall and winter terms, was taught by Miss Helen L. Sweet, and much credit is due both teacher and pupils. The scholars in this school have been neglected in a degree, owing to the large number in the school before it was graded. The committee were well pleased with the progress made in this school.

Plain School.—The spring term was under the charge of Miss Clara L. Newell, with a fair degree of progress. The fall term was taught by Miss Charine Keefe, a State Normal School graduate, with some experience as a teacher. It was the opinion of the committee not to continue the school longer than eight weeks, as the progress made was poor. The winter term was taught by Miss Lizzie Wesson, of Hardwick, with a fair degree of progress. On account of sickness and bad roads, and children living a long distance from this school, the attendance was not encouraging.

The committee would suggest that the Town appropriate money for the conveyance of children living a long distance from school. We believe it to be a duty of every town.

The spring term of the Grammar School at North Dana was taught by Miss Blanche D. Avey. Her instruction has given good results. The fall and winter terms were taught by Miss Caroline V. Thayer, of Enfield, and, the committee are glad to say, with a good degree of progress.

The Primary School was taught by Miss Bessie M. Fales, with good results, and much credit is given both teachers and scholars.

We would ask the voters of this town to please remember that we have one more school to sustain now than when the last appropriation was made.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The trustees of the Town Public Library beg leave to present their second annual report:

The Library was first opened to the public in December, 1892, and was kept at the house of N. L. Johnson, until May, 1893, without expense to the Town. At about that time, Miss Grace Oakes undertook the care of it at North Dana, and Mrs. H. C. Longley at Dana.

At the time of our last report, one year ago, the library contained 260 volumes, all received from the state and individual gifts. Since that time 78 volumes have been purchased with appropriations by the town, and 21 volumes have been received as a gratuity from the Petersham Library, making the total number of books at present 359.

The whole number of cards issued since the Library was opened is 170. Since May 1st, 126 cards have been given out. The total number of books given out since May 1st is 1655; since May 1st, 547 books have been taken from the room at North Dana, and 613 from the room at Dana, making a total of 1160 since the first of last May.

Amount received from fines,	$1 60
Other receipts	1 90
	$3 50
Paid for stationery, etc.,	59
Leaving a balance of		$2 91
Balance of appropriation in the hands of N. L. Johnson,		1 63
		$4 54

Miss Oakes has received from the town, for her services, $20.33. There is due Mrs. Longley, for services, $20. The town appropriated $25 in 1892, and $50 in 1893.

The trustees recommend the appropriation of at least $50 for books.

FINANCIAL YEAR, ENDING FEBRUARY 20, 1894.

ANNUAL REPORT

—OF THE—

School Committee of the Town of Dana.

To the Citizens of Dana: In presenting the report for the year 1893–'94, there are comparatively few items to which we need call special attention. At a school committee meeting, March 1st, 1893, it was thought best to choose a visiting committee, and Mr. M. T. Knapp was chosen, and it is the minds of the committee that he has performed the duties as such to the satisfaction of the scholars, teachers, parents and committee. Mr. Knapp reports that the schools all seem to be running smoothly, and our teachers, both new and old, are doing good work.

Five schools have been sustained this year with the money available for the purpose. We furnished thirty-one weeks' tuition at the North Dana Grammar School, and thirty weeks' at the Primary school, thirty-two weeks' at the Plain school, and thirty-one weeks' at both Grammar and Primary schools at the Center.

North Village Grammar School, spring term, was taught by Miss Caroline V. Thayer. Miss Thayer had previously taught this school, with satisfactory results, and this term showed quite a good degree of progress. At the close of the term, Miss Thayer expressed a desire to be excused from her work here as teacher, and Miss Lizzie A. Kelley was secured as teacher for the fall and winter terms. Miss Kelley came well recommended, and the school was quite successful under her training.

North Village Primary School, spring term taught by Miss Bessie M. Fales, as usual, was satisfactory to everyone, and the committee very much regretted that the circumstances were such that she could not remain throughout the year. On account of the sickness of her mother, she felt her duty was at home. The fall term, taught by Miss Florence W. Kaler, was not quite as satisfactory as the committee would have liked. The winter term was taught by Mr. Charles M. Lindsey. This was Mr. Lindsey's first term, but he seemed to have the necessary requirements for teaching, and was quite successful, the school making a good degree of progress while in his care.

The Plain school was under the care of Miss Lizzie S. Clary the whole year. Miss Clary, being a teacher of large experience and a Normal graduate, was very successful in her methods of teaching, and her work was quite satisfactory.

Dana Center Grammar school spring and fall terms were under the charge of Miss Caroline E. Shirley. Miss Shirley proved herself fully equal to the occasion, and a good degree of progress was made, the school appearing satisfactory to both parents and committee. The winter term was taught by Miss Helen L. Sweet. Miss Sweet, having been very successful as teacher in the Primary school, your committee felt no misgivings in asking her to take the Grammar school, which she did, with the same satisfactory results.

Dana Center Primary School spring and fall terms were taught by Miss Helen L. Sweet, and were very satisfactory in every respect. The winter term was taught by Miss Mabel Scribner. Miss Scribner, although a stranger to the pupils, seemed to have no break from their former training, and her work was quite satisfactory to pupils and parents, as well as to the committee. By some mistake, the register of this school has never reached your committee, rendering it impossible for us to give you a full report.

REPORT OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE TOWN LIBRARY.

The Trustees of the Town Library beg leave to present their third Annual Report:

One year ago, at the time of our last report, the Library contained 359 volumes. Since that time, there have been added as follows:

From the State, eleven volumes; chiefly books of reference.

By gift from Col. T. S. Johnson, nine volumes.

By gift from John H. Johnson, four volumes.

By gift from James S. Brown, one volume.

Purchased with the appropriation by the Town, thirty-nine volumes, making the total number of books 423.

During the year ending Feb. 19, 1895, eleven cards from the room at North Dana, and twenty-two cards from the room at Dana have been delivered to as many new patrons of the Library. One hundred and seventy cards had previously been issued, making a total of two hundred and three persons who have taken books.

There have been 370 volumes taken from the North Dana room, and 607 from that at Dana, making 977 volumes taken by two hundred and three different persons during the year. From these data, it appears probable that one-half, at least, of the inhabitants of the entire town, of suitable age, read these books.

Miss Oakes has collected fines amounting to $2.29, and paid out for stationery, etc., thirty cents. Mrs. Whipple has collected ninety-six cents from delinquents. There is now in the hands of Miss Oakes, $4.69. In the hands of N. L. Johnson, including the money collected by Mrs. Whipple, $3.40.

Miss Oakes has received from the town $25 for her services the past year. There is now due Mrs. Whipple $25 for her services.

The trustees recommend the appropriation of at least $50 for books, and $50 for the care of the library for the current year.

REPORT OF THE

School Committee of Dana.

To the Citizens of Dana:—In presenting our report of the schools for the year 1894–'95, we feel we can justly say that never before since our acquaintance with the schools have they appeared in any better condition than at the close of the past school year. We have, considering the means at our command, endeavored to secure the services of the best teachers. All the schools in town commenced the year's work with their former teachers, but at the close of the spring term both teachers at the central part of the town expressed a desire to resign, wishing to engage in a larger and more remunerative field of labor. It became necessary, therefore, to secure new teachers for these schools, and at the close of the fall term it was deemed best by some of the committee to make another change, thus giving the Central Grammar school three different teachers. We feel that this school has not lost by the several changes, yet it is the opinion of the writer that too many changes are detrimental to a school.

The other schools continued their work through the year with their former teachers and their usual success, which was quite satisfactory to both parents and committee. We should have been glad to have made the terms of all schools longer, had we known the amount of the Massachusetts School Fund. Information regarding the amount came too late for us to act.

E. E. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

M. T. KNAPP, Visiting Committee.

Fourth Annual Report

—OF THE—

Trustees of the Town Library.

The trustees beg leave to report that, during the last year, there have been added to the library, books as follows, to wit: Presented by Mrs. I. H. Johnson, three volumes; by Susan W. Farwell, fourteen volumes; received from the state (books of reference), thirteen volumes; purchased with the town's appropriation, ninety-nine volumes. Total addition, 129; number reported one year ago, 423; total number of books, 552. Mr. James M. Stone, of Boston, a former resident of this town, has presented to the library two valuable ornamental framed engravings.

Since our last report, about one year ago, seventeen cards have been delivered from the room at North Dana, and twelve from the room at Dana, to an equal number of new patrons, which, added to those previously taken out, make a total of 232 cards issued to as many different persons.

There have been taken from the room at North Dana during the year, 490 volumes; from that at Dana, 430 volumes; whole number circulated during the year, 920 volumes. Fines collected from delinquents at North Dana, $2.29; Collected at Dana, $1.83.

The town has paid Miss Oakes and Mrs. Whipple $25 each for their services. There is in the hands of Miss Oakes $4.62; in the hands of N. L. Johnson, including that collected by Mrs. Whipple, $14.23. Books are now in process of binding, which will about consume it all.

The town has dealt quite liberally with the library under the circumstances. One hundred dollars was appropriated last year for the purchase of books, and fifty dollars for their care. This liberality has been appreciated, and the outlay is believed to be reasonable and profitable, and the trustees recommend like appropriations for the current year.

Dana, Feb. 6, 1897.

REPORT OF THE
Trustees of the Town Library.

The undersigned, in submitting their fifth annual report, beg leave to state that, during the year, books have been added to the library as follows:

From the secretary of state, eleven volumes.

Donated by Col. Robert E. Beecher, three volumes bound pamphlets.

Donated by John H. Johnson, sixteen volumes bound pamphlets.

Purchased with the town's appropriation, eighty-eight volumes, making a total of 118. This number, added to the number reported one year ago, makes the total number of volumes in the library 670.

Since our last report, 13 cards have been delivered from the room at North Dana, and 13 from the room at Dana, to new patrons. These, together with the cards previously taken, make a total of 258 cards, held by an equal number of persons; 310 volumes have been distributed from the room at North Dana, and 437 volumes and 73 magazines from the room at Dana. Whole number of bound books circulated during the year, 747. Fines amounting to $2.63 have been collected. There is in the hands of Miss Grace Oakes, treasurer, $2.56. Due N. L. Johnson, $8.72, advanced in anticipation of the next year's appropriation.

The town appropriated $100 for books, last year, and the appropriation has been used for that purpose. Miss Grace Oakes and Miss Nellie L. Whipple have been paid $25 each for their services, and it is hoped a like sum will be appropriated for the current year.

N. L. JOHNSON,
SARDIUS SKINNER,
GRACE OAKES,
Library Trustees.

REPORT OF THE
School Committee of Dana.

During the past year the same general policy toward the public schools has been pursued; quality of instruction, rather than quantity, has been sought. We have endeavored to make the schools worthy of patronage and approval, but what we consider necessary for best results is a school superintendent, whose duty it shall be to devote his time to the good of the schools, and we would emphasize this fact.

The town has maintained the schools for a period of thirty-six weeks. The Center Grammar school was subjected to changes each term. The spring term was taught by Miss Martha Hall. At the close of the term it was thought best to unite the Grammar and Primary schools, with Miss Cora L. Beard as teacher. Owing to so much dissatisfaction, the two schools were resumed again, although your committee thought it wiser to have the schools united. For the winter term, Miss Alice Brown was instructor. This school has been conducted successfully. The Primary school was taught by Miss Cora L. Beard, who has had charge of this school for several terms, and the fact of her retention so long is proof of the satisfactory character of her work.

The Plain school has been taught the entire year by Miss M. Fitzpatrick, making a good degree of progress. North Village Grammar school has been taught the entire year by Miss Lizzie A. Kelly, who has done a most faithful work, which is justly appreciated by patrons and scholars. An advanced course of study has been placed in this school for all pupils desiring to pursue their studies further. Five availed themselves of this opportunity at the beginning of the fall term.

North Village Primary school, spring term, taught by Miss Bessie M. Fales, was satisfactory to everyone. The fall and winter terms were taught by Miss Grace Powers with a fair degree of progress. The class which was graduated from the Grammar schools at the close of the spring term passed an examination much like that of the previous year, but the standard has been raised so that in the future the graduates will be prepared to enter creditably any High School. This may result in adding a year's work for the present advanced class so that there will be no graduating class this year, but will also result in more thorough fitting. Your committee believes that the two schools ought to hold the scholars until they reach the high school limit.

There are nine pupils attending schools in other towns, one at Winchendon and eight at New Salem, whose tuitions are paid by the town, to be reimbursed by the state.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

I have this day examined the accounts of the selectmen, and those of the treasurer, and find the foregoing statement correct.

F. D. STEVENS,
Auditor.

REPORT OF THE
SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

We are glad to report that there have been fewer changes in teachers during the past year, a result which we believe to be desirable. Successful teachers should be retained whenever possible, and your committee, acting upon this principle, has raised the wages of Misses Beard and Kelly for the purpose of retaining them when offered more elsewhere. Despite this fact, however, the treasury at the close of this year is about seventy-five dollars in advance of the opening of last year, even if the winter term shall be completed to twelve weeks.

The village primary school was closed for two weeks on account of the sickness of the teacher, and the center schools were also closed on account of the measles. At this writing it is not determined whether all of this lost time shall be made up. If it is not, the balance will be increased.

The center grammar school was taught the first term by Miss Flora C. Clark, and the primary school by Mrs. Dora M. Scott. Neither of these remained for the second term, though both did good work. During the fall and winter terms the grammar school was under the charge of Miss Effie M. Bremen, and the primary school was taught by Miss Frances V. Doane. The results have been satisfactory to the board, and also, we believe, to the patrons of the schools.

The plain school was taught by Miss Myra Hanson during the first two terms. It was her first effort, but was of such a character that the committee would gladly have retained her, had she been willing. They secured Mr. Herbert Glazier for the winter term, who, though without experience, has the characteristics of a successful teacher, and has proven satisfac-factory.

It is enough for the village schools to say that they have, during the year, been under care of our tried and popular teachers, Miss Kelly and Miss Cora Beard. At the beginning of the year Miss Beard desired to be transferred from the center to the village primary school, much to the regret of the patrons of the center school, and the board accepted her judgment and honored her wishes. She believed that she had been there so long, a change was advisable.

We believe that, on the whole, the year has been a prosperous one in our schools. The average attendance for the year is as follows:

Center schools,	33½
Plain school,	8½
Village schools,	53
Total,	95

The expense per scholar from the school fund is as follows:

Center schools,	$17 80
Plain school,	28 53
Village schools,	14 88

A saving of expense and, in the judgment of the board, better results for the pupils could be secured by conveying the scholars from the plain district to the village schools. This plan is obtaining in other towns, and the cause is not a saving of expense, but the welfare of the pupils. We believe this ought to be done.

One change during the past year is the introduction of a set of supplementary readers in all the schools and grades, which give not only drill in reading, but also valuable instruction in various branches. A set of maps was also secured at a very reasonable price.

No class completed the course during the year in consequence of a change which seems better fitting for high schools. We believe that, since we can have no high school at present, our grammar schools ought to do the best possible work for our pupils. The class soon to be graduated will be able to enter any high school with credit.

One fact the board desires to call special attention to, and that is the record of absences, which we believe to be unwarranted in some cases. The law is explicit, and the board is held responsible for its enactment; yet some parents, we are sure, keep their children at home when the act is not justified. The board shrinks from causing parents trouble and expense, and we would urge all parents to prevent the necessity by keeping their children in school. The law says, "Every child, between seven and fourteen years of age, shall attend some public day school in the town or city in which he resides during the entire time the public day schools are in session, and every person having under his control a child as described in this section shall cause such child to attend school as required in this section," and "any person having under his control a child between seven and fourteen years of age who fails to cause such child to attend school as required by section eleven, just quoted, "of this act, upon complaint by a school attendance officer, and conviction thereof, shall forfeit and pay a fine of not more than twenty dollars. Any person who knowingly induces, or attempts to induce, any child to absent himself unlawfully from school, or knowingly employs or harbors while school is in session, any child absent unlawfully from school, shall forfeit and pay a fine of not more than fifty dollars."

These laws are framed to protect children in their rights to an education, and the school board is under obligation to see that they are enforced. We ask all parents to assist us.

We believe that it is for the interest of our pupils to provide for instruction in vocal music, by a competent teacher, and recommend that the town either appropriate a sum specially for the purpose, or authorize the board to use a certain portion of the school fund for the purpose. This is the only opportunity the children of to-day have of securing such instruction, and it should be carefully attended to.

F. H. WHEELER,
N. M. BROWN,
N. L. JOHNSON,
School Board.

REPORT OF THE
Trustees of the Town Library.

The subscribers beg leave to submit to the town their sixth annual report of the condition of the public library. There have been added during the year the following books:

Nine volumes from the secretary of state.

Two volumes were presented by Col. T. S. Johnson.

Eighty-five volumes have been purchased with the money appropriated by the town last March, making 96 volumes. These, added to the number reported last year, make the whole number of volumes in the library 766.

Since our last report 21 new cards have been delivered from the library room at North Dana, and 13 from that at Dana. These, added to those previously taken out, make the total number of cards 292 held by the same number of readers; 530 volumes have been taken from the room at North Dana, and 511 volumes and 35 magazines from that at Dana; 1041 bound books have been circulated during the year. Fines amounting to $4.38 have been collected from delinquents. There is in the hands of Miss Grace Oaks, librarian, $4.07; in the hands of N. L. Johnson, $3.23.

The town one year ago appropriated for books $100, which, with the above exceptions, has been so used. The town has also paid $50 for the care of the library at the two places, and we urgently recommend that, at least, as large a sum be appropriated for the current year.

It is clearly apparent that more than one-third, and probably at least one-half of the inhabitants of the town read these books, and it gives us pleasure to be able to report that the library is growing in favor with the people, a large proportion of whom have no vote in town affairs.

Respectfully submitted,

N. L. JOHNSON, } Library
GRACE OAKS, } Trustees.

REPORT OF THE
SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Since the commencement of the school year very little change has occurred in the teaching force of the town. The town has maintained the schools for a period of thirty-six weeks. The center grammar school was taught the first term by Miss Ethel Thompson, and the primary school by Miss Fannie Doane. At the beginning of the fall term, by request, a school was opened at District No. 1, and one school was closed at the center. Miss Thompson has charge of the center school, and has proved herself worthy of the confidence imposed in her. Herbert Glazier has charge of the south school. This school has done good work. The Plain school was under the care of Mr. Glazier during the spring term, and Miss Alice Wood the fall and winter terms. The village schools have been taught by Misses Kelly and Beard, and have done excellent work.

During the past year new histories have been bought for the higher grades, also new readers for all grades. We believe there have been fewer absences this year than in the past. Sickness is the only excuse for absence from school. The schools are supported by the town and state, and the government demands the attendance of the children. The work to be done in school is carefully planned day by day and no child can be absent from a recitation without losing something which he cannot make up. At the town meeting in March, 1898, the school board was authorized to use a certain portion of the school fund for music, and in April music was taken up in the schools of Dana as a regular study in all grades. The Normal Music Course was adopted. Miss Abbie Thompson has had charge of this work.

REPORT OF THE

Trustees of the Town Library.

The undersigned respectfully submit to the town their seventh annual report of the condition of the town public library. There have been added during the year the following volumes, to wit :

Presented by Cambridge Woman's Temperance Union,	1 vol.
Presented by Secretary of State, Public Documents and books of reference,	14
Presented by Sarah D. Robinson, of Kansas,	1
Presented by Austin F. Adams, Esq.,	1
Presented by city of Chelsea,	1
Purchased with the town appropriation,	58
Total additions,	76
These added to those last reported, make the whole number of bound volumes in the library	842

Since making our last annual report 51 cards have been taken from the library room at North Dana, and 16 from that at Dana ; these, with those previously taken, make the whole number of cards held by the same number of persons 359 ; 461 volumes have been taken from the room at Dana, and 657 from that at North Dana ; 1118 bound volumes have been circulated in town during the year. Fines collected from delinquents amount to $1.78; $2.52 has been expended for stationery, postage, etc. The town, last spring, appropriated for replenishing the library with books, $100, and for caring for it at both places, $50. There is now in the hands of Miss Grace Oakes, librarian, at North Dana, $2.90; in the hands of N. L. Johnson, $41.65. The balance will probably be invested in books before this report is in print. It is hoped that, at least, as much will be appropria'ed by the town for the library, for the current year, as was voted for that purpose last year.

In each succeeding year a constant increase of readers of these library books has been manifested. This is especially apparent with the younger portion of the community. This encouraging fact should stimulate all who desire the moral and intellectual improvement of this community to increased efforts to promote and extend its efficiency.

Respectfully submitted,

N. L. JOHNSON,
GRACE OAKES,
O. H. SKINNER,
Library Trustees.

Report of the School Committee.

The School Committee takes pleasure in reporting all the schools of the town in excellent condition, believing they have not fallen below the high standard of the past, and this, in face of the fact that it has been necessary to engage new teachers, with one exception. The South School has progressed under the instruction of Mr. Herbert Glazier. Miss Alice Stevens has taught the Plain school with good results. Miss Ethel Thompson continued in charge of the Center school during the spring, but in the fall it was necessary to secure a new teacher, and Miss Cindie Dalton was engaged. Commendable progress has been made under her direction. During the spring term Misses Kelly and Beard continued as teachers in the places they so acceptably filled for a number of years, but declined to serve longer, much to the regret of the committee. Miss Hattie Canfield was then engaged as teacher of the Village Grammar school, and Miss Fannie Gould of the Primary department. The methods of instruction used by both these teachers are of the kind approved by the modern educators and corresponding results have accrued. The study of vocal music has been kept up during the year, under the efficient direction of Miss Abbie Thompson.

Two new sets of charts for use in teaching arithmetic have been introduced during the year.

One thing is to be regretted, the amount of absence on the part of pupils. Much of it, occasioned by sickness, has been unavoidable; some of it could have been avoided, did parents but realize the great necessity, for regularity in attendance. Irregularity tends to demoralize the school and to increase the work of the teacher at the same time that it lessons the efficiency of that work. Absence is necessarily accompanied by loss to the child. Not infrequently he falls behind his mates and becomes too discouraged to do good work, and he drops out of the school at the earliest opportunity. Tardiness, also, so much to be regretted, the habit of promptitude being one which it is very desirable to form in youth.

A further snggestion is that valuable aid would accrue to both teachers and pupils, if parents and guardians would show their interest by visiting the schools oftener.

NELLIE M. BROWN,
FANNIE E. AUSTIN,
EMMA GROVER,
} School Committee of Dana.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE TOWN PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The undersigned beg leave to submit to the town their eighth annual report of the condition of the Public Library. The following additions have been made during the last year, to wit:

Presented by Franklin I. Johnson	1	Vol.
Received from the Secretary of State	11	"
Purchased with the town appropriation	80	"
Total additions	92	"
Number reported one year ago	842	"
Total number of bound books in the Library	934	"

During the year 29 cards have been delivered to patrons from the room at North Dana, and 10 from the room at Dana. These added to those previously reported make 338 cards held by an equal number of patrons.

There have been taken from the room at North Dana during the year, 881 volumes. From the room at Dana 575 volumes. 1456 bound books have been placed in the hands of readers. More than 300 more books have been taken from the library than were taken last year. Fines have been collected from delinquents amounting to $3.27. $102.-80 have been expended for books and other necessary expenses. There is in the hands of N. L. Johnson and Miss Oakes $49.63, which it is expected will be invested in books within a few days. It is hoped that the town will appropriate as much for the library the present year as was voted last spring. It will be seen from the above that there is a large increase in the number of books circulated in town. It is also noticeable that a large majority of the books inquired for are works of fiction, which are easily read, and require little or no mental effort to digest, and leave on the mind little, if any thing of value.

There are many valuable volumes in the library, such as History, Biography, Science, Travels, etc., which are comparatively seldom called for. It is to be regretted that books of a more substantial and improving character are not sought, and it is confidently hoped that a taste for that kind of literature will be more generally cultivated.

Respectfully submitted,

N. L. JOHNSON,
GRACE C. OAKES,
O. H. SKINNER,
} Library Trustees.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITEE.

The school committee is glad to report a successful school year. The schools have been in the hands of faithful teachers, and corresponding good results have followed. During the spring term the teachers continued in their respective places, as stated in the report of a year ago. At the opening of the fall term a number of changes were necessitated by the loss of the village teachers, Miss Hattie Canfield and Miss Fannie Gould. Mr. Herbert Glazier was transferred from the South school to the Village Grammar school, and Miss Cindie Dalton from the Center to the Village Primary school. Mr. Herman Knight was engaged to teach at the Center, and Miss Lilla Walker at the South school. Miss Alice Stevens has continued as teacher of the Plain school. At the time of the Christmas vacation, Mr. Glazier resigning, Mr. Knight was placed in charge of the Grammar school, and Miss Sadie Ward was engaged to teach the school at the Center. Miss Abbie Thompson has done efficient work during the year as instructor in vocal music.

A number of new text books have been introduced in several of the grades, Prince's arithmetics for primary grades, Mowry's History and Cyr's readers. A number table was also purchased for use at the Center school.

Necessary repairs have been made upon some of the school buildings; the South school has been painted and repaired inside; the upper Village schoolroom has been papered; half of the roof has been shingled, and the fence painted.

The committee wishes to call the attention of parents and guardians to the many requests made by pupils to be excused before the regular time for dismissal. Some of these cases are unnecessary. They are always to be deplored, because they result in loss to the pupil.

There is now due from the town a balance of $74.76 from last year's appropriation. This money will soon be invested in books. It would have been so used earlier, but for circumstances which could not be easily controlled. It is hoped that $100 will be appropriated for the library for the current year, there being a constant increase in the circulation of books.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The School Committee feel that the school year has been a very successful one. The teachers have proved themselves faithful and capable. During the year few changes have been made in the teachers, Miss Sadie Ward remaining at the Center school, Miss Cindie Dalton at Village Primary, and Herman Knight at the Village Grammar. At the beginning of the Fall term Miss Alice Stevens was transferred from the Plain to the South school to take the place of Miss Lilla Walker, and Miss Lucie Grover was engaged to teach at the Plain school. After the Christmas vacation the South school was closed because of there being so few pupils

At the beginning of the next Fall term, if not the Spring term, the committee think it would be advisable to convey the pupils from the Plain to the Center school, and have two schools at the Center. The building at the Plain will soon need repairs, while both rooms at the Center are lighter and warmer. It is also thought the work would be made more interesting for the children, because of the classes being larger and the schools graded in a better manner.

It has been necessary to spend much more than the usual amount for new books this year, many of the old books being worn and worthless.

Miss Abbie Thompson resigned the position as music teacher at the beginning of the Fall term. Miss Maud Amsden was engaged for that place. Her work has been most satisfactory.

ROLL OF HONOR.

Two terms.—Ashley Bristol, Eddie Dumas, Eva Wood, Willie Collier, Effie Holland, Ruth Crawford, Lester Hager.

I have this day examined the foregoing accounts of the selectmen and those of the treasurer, and find the foregoing statements correct.

Dana, Feb. 3, 1903.

REPORT OF THE
Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Dana:

I HAVE the honor to submit the following report of the condition, work and needs of the schools for the year ending February 1, 1903.

This being my first year in Dana has necessarily been devoted to the general management of the schools, and to a study of the needs and conditions. Yet it seemed advisable that some important changes be made at the beginning of the fall term. The most important of these was mentioned in the last annual report of your committee,-- the closing of the Plain school and the opening of a primary school at Dana Centre. It was imperative that the school at the Centre be graded. Forty pupils in all grades cannot do really successful work in one room. As there were only eight pupils at the Plain school they could be carried to the Centre, and save quite a sum of money to the town, as the cost of transportation is less than the cost of maintaining a school. Many strong arguments have been advanced on both sides of the question of transportation, but these amount to little unless applied to a case in hand. A general change has been effected in the methods of primary instruction and improved methods introduced throughout the course. Quietly have these changes been made, and with the hearty co-operation of the committee, teachers, and people. Permit me to express my appreciation of the support that has enabled me to attain whatever measure of success has rewarded my endeavors.

All our schools are graded schools. The three lower grades are in the primary rooms, where all the work is conducted to suit the age and experience of the child, and excellent results are manifest. The intermediate and grammar grades are upstairs. In some respects this is an advantage, as the younger pupils learn much unconsciously from the work of the older ones — the glory of the ungraded school.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

Several teachers' meetings have been held, and a plan of the work in the different subjects and grades has been outlined for the teachers, and means and methods for carrying it out have been discussed. Besides these, in November the teachers of the entire district met at Millington for a talk on first grade Reading, by Mr. J. S. Cooley of Worcester, and in December an Institute under the auspices of the State Board of Education was held at North Dana. Both of these meetings were very interesting and helpful.

COURSE OF STUDY.

One of the great needs of our schools is a new course of study. The superintendent has this matter under consideration, and expects to have the work in form so that it may be placed in the hands of the teachers at the opening of the spring term.

While I do not believe in too much interference with the work of the teachers, yet there is need at all times of an established standard of attainment in order that all the pupils may have the benefit of an equal amount of instruction. A course of study should be so arranged that the work of a child at any time may be a complete unit; thus even in the lowest grade, in the first year of school life, the child meets with all the fundamental processes of arithmetic,— including fractions,— besides being taught to read, and learning something of language and geography.

Year by year the course goes on expanding those principles and broadening the knowledge which the child has thus gained. With the adoption of a course of study, re-grading will be effected with as little inconvenience to the pupils as possible.

VISITING DAYS.

As is customary, one day each term has been allowed the teachers for visiting and observing the work of other schools. I believe this to be productive of good results. The following regulations govern the use of the day:

Teachers are required to visit one day each term.

The day for visiting and the work to be visited is arranged by the superintendent.

A report of each visit, with remarks upon strong and weak points of the school visited is made at the next teachers' meeting.

MUSIC, DRAWING, ETC.

Under the excellent instruction of Miss Amsden, good work has been accomplished in this department, and the results merit the continuance of the work. For information of the work done, I refer you to the report of the instructor of music.

Realizing the importance and educational value of drawing, both in the training of eye and hand and in the development of thought and expression, I have asked the teachers to give some time each week to this department. Considering the amount of time that it was possible to devote to it, I think very good work has been done. I hope we may be able to give this subject more time in future.

Some work has been done with reed and raffia. This is in the nature of an experiment, and the results are certainly encouraging. I believe manual training will become more and more a recognized part of the work of the schools.

ATTENDANCE.

The attendance for this school year has been far from satisfactory. Education is the child's right. Since he cannot enforce, the state assumes that duty. The laws in regard to attendance should be enforced, and truant officers should understand that it is their duty to carry them out, and that they will be supported in their efforts.

BUILDINGS.

The building at the Centre is in good repair, well suited and well arranged for the work of the schools. At North Dana the building is not suitable for the use of the schools, nor is the yard large enough for a playground. A lot for school purposes should be obtained where there would be ample playground, and a building should be erected that would accommodate your growing needs. Such an investment is sound business policy for the town. Good schools are well-nigh impossible with inadequate facilities, and good schools are a large factor in encouraging people to reside among us.

TEACHERS.

The cordiality of my relations with the teachers has been a source of gratification to me. I believe it has been the desire of every teacher to do the best possible for the pupils over whom she was placed, and if there are faults it is not from lack of good intentions. On the whole the work has been good, and it is my hope that greater progress may be made in future. Again I desire to give formal expression to my thanks for the co-operation of the teachers, and the cordial support of the committee which have been of so much assistance to me in my work of superintending.

Respectfully,

E. L. ADAMS,

Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. Adams, Superintendent of Schools.

Dear Sir: — The progress made in vocal music during the past year has been quite satisfactory. Everywhere is manifested a spirit of earnestness and painstaking, both by teachers and pupils, which, if continued, will bring excellent results.

My aim is to train the children to become, as far as possible, self reliant. This is being accomplished by constantly requiring individual singing, which many of the children thoroughly enjoy, and in which the rest are deeply interested.

I have used the "Individual Sight Singing" exercises with our other studies during the year, and I am glad to say that much of the progress in sight singing is due to this most important individual singing. In this each child is put upon his own resources. He wishes to do as well as possible, and, as a natural consequence, he becomes stronger in his ability to read music.

Careful work is being done in every grade, and all are striving for good tone quality and correctness of pitch. There is much room for improvement in these respects, but if the same enthusiastic spirit continues, good results must follow.

I visited the schools in the cities of Springfield and Westfield, and was glad to see that their work is much the same as ours, and I am sure that the music of Dana schools would compare favorably, if placed side by side with that of these schools.

For the earnest support of all during the year I am most grateful.

S. MAUDE AMSDEN,

Supervisor of music.

Auditor's Report.

I have this day examined the foregoing accounts and find them correct.

O. E. HAGER, Auditor.

Dana, Feb. 4, 1904.

REPORT OF THE
Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Dana:

I HEREWITH submit to you, and through you to the citizens of the town, my report of the condition. work and needs of the public schools of Dana. This is a report of my five months' service, and the second in the series of superintendent's reports.

Entering upon my work in September, I found the conditions of the schools as to grading good. A few changes were necessary, but owing to the condition of the building at North Dana, as to number of rooms and seating accommodations, those changes there could not be made, and can not be made until a suitable house is provided so that three rooms may at once be used for the school, which at present is crowded into two small, poorly heated and non-ventilated rooms.

The only means of ventilation is by opening a window, or a door, which has no beneficial effect upon the health of a child who sits within range of the draft. It is not right to put forty-one small children into such a room. I have been in that room when there has been a difference of nineteen degrees in the front and rear of it, which surely is not conducive to the best health and work of the teacher and pupils concerned.

It is a well proven and acknowledged fact among our best educators that of all departments in school, the primary grades should not be crowded. These grades, and especially the first and second grades, demand more of the teacher's time and attention than do any other grades in the school, for the little minds are not yet trained to independent mental work, while the hands and bodies of these small people are very active, and this activity must be provided for by the teacher, who, in this particular case, should have only the first two grades, which at present is impossible. Grades one and two are very large for this school, and there is no prospect of the entering grades being small for some time to come. Much more might be said concerning the conditions existing in this room, but time and space forbid.

The upper room at North Dana contains grades 4 to 9. Too many for good or satisfactory work by the teacher. What has been said regarding the heat and ventilation of the lower room, is true of this room. No class will be graduated from the upper room this year, and naturally the room next year will be over-crowded by the promotion of grade three from the lower room. Unless some immediate action is taken for better and larger accommodations by the voters at the annual meeting, the school board will have to engage a room outside for the accommodation of pupils next year. Dana Center, not being a manufacturing community, containing a much smaller school population than the north village, hence the conditions in that school are not crowded. Until recently there has been no first grade in the Center school. Now there are two pupils in the first grade, while there are twenty-one in the same grade at North Dana.

The primary room at the Center contains four grades, with 26 children, while in only three grades at North Dana are 41 pupils. The upper room contains five grades and will graduate a ninth grade in June, "deo volo."

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

I find that any work can be done more economically and to better advantage if certain rules or principles govern said work, therefore, I submit for the benefit of all concerned a few rules for guidance in school work.

School Year.—The school year shall consist of three terms. The first term shall begin on the Tuesday after the first Monday in September, and shall continue until Wednesday noon before Thanksgiving. The winter term shall begin the next Monday and continue thirteen weeks. After two weeks vacation the spring term shall begin and continue until thirty-six weeks shall have been kept.

Holidays and Vacations.—The following, when occuring in term time, shall be holidays: Saturday, two weeks at Christmas, Feb. 22d, April 19th, May 30th, and the day of the Worcester County Teachers' Convention.

Hours.—The morning session shall be from 9 a. m. to 12 m., with a recess of 15 minutes at 10.30 a. m., and the afternoon session shall be from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m., with a recess at 2.30 p. m. Primary pupils may be dismissed at 2.30 p. m.

Teachers may detain children above the third grade at the close of the afternoon session for the purpose of discipline, or for making up lessons, for a time not exceeding thirty minutes.

Care of Property.—Teachers shall be accountable for the care of all apparatus, books, and school property belonging to their rooms.

Attendance of Teachers. — Each schoolroom shall be opened, and the teacher present, at least fifteen minutes before the opening of each session.

Opening Exercises.—The morning session shall be opened with the reading of the Scriptures, without written note or oral comment, and the use of the Lord's Prayer. No pupil shall be allowed to enter the room during devotional exercises.

Order of Exercises.—Teachers shall be required to keep a program and plan of seats accessible to scholars and visitors. Recitations shall be conducted according to this schedule.

Excuses.—Teachers shall require a written excuse for every absence, tardiness or dismission. No pupil shall be excused from school for the purpose of taking private lessons.

Truancy.—The name of each truant shall, on the second offence, be reported to the superintendent of schools.

Suspension.—A teacher may temporarily suspend a pupil for opposition to authority, or habitual disregard of rules. She shall at once report the same in writing to the superintendent of schools and to the parent or guardian. The superintendent may restore the pupil or report him to the committee for final action.

Responsibility for Grounds.—The principal teacher shall be responsible to the committee for the general condition of the schoolhouse and its appurtenances, and shall report to them at once any damage done, with necessary information concerning the same.

Admission to Schools.—No pupil shall be admitted to the lowest grade, except during the first two weeks of the school year, unless he shall have attended school before, or be over eight years old. No child under five shall be admitted.

Teacher's Absence.—Whenever a teacher is absent from school, immediate notice must be sent to the superintendent of schools.

Discipline.—Teachers shall aim at such discipline in their schools as is exercised by a kind, wise and judicious parent of a family, avoiding corporal punishment where other measures would suit the case. In no instance shall a teacher resort to any terrifying device, or provoking or harsh language. Corporal punishment may be inflicted to pupils above the fourth grade when other measures fail to secure order and obedience, but it must be inflicted in the presence of some other teacher or witness. Teachers shall report on their monthly report cards all instances of corporal punishment inflicted, the name and age of the pupil, reason for infliction, and the manner and amount of said punishment.

Transfers.—No pupil shall be transferred from one class to another without the consent of the superintendent. Every child leaving for another school shall be given a discharge card, and one shall be sent to the superintendent.

Visitation.—For the purpose of observing modes of discipline and instruction, teachers may visit schools two days each year at such times as may be arranged between them and the superintendent.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

[Pub. Statutes Chap. 64, Acts of 1885.]

XIX. No pupil shall be allowed to attend the public schools while any member of the household, to which such pupil belongs, is sick of small-pox, diphtheria, or scarlet fever, or during a period of two weeks after the death, recovery, or removal of such sick person; and any pupil coming from such household, shall be required to present to the teacher of the school the pupil desires to attend, a certificate from the attending physician, or board of health, of the facts necessary to entitle him to admission in accordance with this regulation.

No pupil shall be allowed to attend school while afflicted with measles or whooping cough, and teachers shall have authority to exclude, temporarily, pupils who may be afflicted by other disases or eruptions of a doubtful character, and all such cases shall be reported promptly to the Superintendent of Schools.

DUTIES OF JANITORS.

Janitors shall act as custodians of the school property throughout the entire calendar year. During term time they shall keep the school rooms, halls, stairways, school furniture, cellars, school yards, and out-buildings, clean and neat. They shall sweep the floor and dust the school furniture, at least twice each week, shall clean the windows, doors and other woodwork, and dust the blinds and walls as often as necessary to keep the same tidy, and remove the ashes from the stoves. They shall have charge of the flags; see that they are out at a proper time; take them in at the close of the session and when the weather is stormy or windy. During the cold season they shall maintain fires sufficient to keep the temperature as nearly 68 degrees Fahrenheit as possible. They shall report to the Local Committee all needed repairs, but shall incur no expense for the town unless authorized in writing. Janitors are directly under the control of the superintendent; they must be courteous and obliging to teachers at all times. Smoking in and about the buildings is strictly forbidden, and no person shall be employed as janitor who uses intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

TEACHER'S MEETINGS.

As there are but four teachers in Dana, I can give them all needed help, and suggestions upon their work, at visitation. Frequent meetings would not meet their individual needs, and would incur a needless expense to the teacher. Especial aid for personal needs is of much greater value than general help for those needs. All teachers, like other people, are not constituted alike, and the aid of the superintendent, wisely directed to assist the particular needs of the individual teacher, is of vastly more importance to that teacher. Of course, I could not take the time for this kind of help, if the teaching force were large; I would be obliged to economize time by calling all teachers together. An Institute which was very helpful to the teachers was held in North Dana Nov. 12th. Agents Fletcher, MacDonald and Sargent, also Miss Lovejoy, spoke ably on topics instructive.

PROMOTIONS.

The daily or oral work of the pupil counts three-fifths of the year's average, or 60 per cent. The written work counts two-fifths, or 40 per cent. That is: The best eight weeks' work of each term counts one-fifth each; the mid-year test one-fifth, and the final test in June one-fifth. A general average of 70 per cent. is necessary for promotion of the pupil.

ARITHMETIC.

It is the common belief of leading educators that too much time has been used in the study of arithmetic in the first years of school, before the mind of the child is sufficiently matured. With many children the power to reason is late in development, and with those of early development of the reasoning power, the practice of studying arithmetic in the first years of school life has resulted in injuring and even arresting the developing of this faculty. No arithmetic is taught in the first year, and very little in the second year in our best schools. It has been thoroughly proven that pupils take it up more readily and intelligently, and progress more rapidly, if the study of arithmetic is not introduced until the second or third year, so that the delay in beginning, is a decided advantage, rather than a loss.

In October I asked our teachers,—the primary teachers,—to devote less time to number in the first grade and I introduced the Walter system, an objective method of teaching number. It is a system which teaches all the arithmetic necessary in seven years, and begins the study in the second grade. It is surprising to see the results of even three months' work in the arithmetical processes of the children. Next year I hope to continue it in the third grade, and so on a grade a year, a step at a time.

READING.

Primary teachers have long recognized the correct results secured by the use of phonics in teaching reading. This system provides for a well arranged and well graded system of phonic drill, extending through three years and reviewed in the fourth year. It also provides that, from the beginning, the child shall be trained in thought-getting and thought-expression. The results are very satisfactory. The constant blending of phonograms gives the child the knowledge of the elementary sounds of the letters and their combinations, which enables him to easily overcome the difficulties of pronounciation, and assists him in the recognition of words. Children of the second grade have accomplished with ease what third grade pupils in any other method do with difficulty. I will challenge any third grade in any but the Ward method to read with any where near the skill and ease that our second grades in Dana do.

I have begun putting supplementary reading into the schools. By getting a set at a time, we can soon furnish each grade with two sets of reading by exchanging in the schools. I have secured reading that will be helpful in history and geography, and very attractive and interesting for the children. Each set does service in both parts of the town. "Stories of the Red Men," "Stories of the Romans," "Old Stories of the East," "Fifty Famous Stories," "The True Citizen," are some of the books bought.

SPELLING.

There is a common belief among people that the spelling is not so good as it used to be. I think that is true in the upper grades in my district. One reason I have heard given is, that in teaching reading by the word method the pupils acquire the habit of seeing the word as a whole, without recognizing its parts. This trouble may easily be overcome by giving the pupils more practice in naming the letters in the word after looking at it closely a short time. This kind of drill together with care in copying accurately and frequent lessons in oral spelling are productive of better results in spelling. This work must be a continuous and persistent effort throughout the school life of the child. Teachers have too much written spelling in the upper grades.

DRAWING.

I hope the day is near when we can have a supervisor of drawing. Drawing should be taught as an expression. Water colors are used in the upper grades, and good work has been accomplished in colors and ink. Children have a great fondness for color, and the results of this interest are very manifest.

MUSIC.

The Weaver method is "all right," and under the direction of our skilled Supervisor in that subject much progress is being made. I refer you to her report.

SCHOOLROOM ADORNMENT.

Some one has fitly said that "There should be interest and individuality to the room where children of an impressionable age are gathered." If that be true, the decorations should be educational and the pictures should be those which furnish information of things suitable for the child. They should be an inspiration, and contain high thoughts; some common things well expressed. They should furnish enjoyment for the mind of the child. Have reprints of picturse that have moved the hearts of men. They are within the means of every one. Pictures suitable for primary children should not adorn the walls of the grammar pupils. The appearance on the walls of our schoolrooms has undergone a great transformation this term. The framed extract of Massachusetts law relating to injury to school property has disappeared from the walls and has been replaced by a picture which surely is more inspirational and affords more enjoyment than did the copy of the old laws which was never read. This is but one little instance of what has been done.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR IMPROVEMENT AMONG THE TEACHERS.

Being located so far from an opportunity of attending the lectures of the Twentieth Century Club, and many other valuable sources of mental improvement, the faithful and conscientious teacher asks herself what she may do to improve and keep herself on a plane with her more fortunate sisters located in the midst of all the great opportunities for self culture and improvement.

Probably no work tends more to routine than teaching. Our teachers daily look into perhaps forty faces, just the same ones they have seen for days and weeks, and differing very little from their appearance in September. The progress from day to day is so small that to the faithful teacher it is not measured, except in a most careful and professional manner, and she may often get discouraged. But the growing teacher, the teacher of promise, will overcome this discouragement and press on, feeling that she is working for the children, and for whatever will develop and lift them to a higher plane.

I would suggest more professional reading. Read not only educational publications, but be on friendly terms with the library, for the library and the public schools are parts of one great whole. There should be a closer relation between the public library and the public school teacher and pupils. We can never have a community that will fully appreciate books until our schools teach how to use them, and where and how they may be obtained.

No teacher should ask, or expect to teach in Dana who is not willing to put forth every effort to know the best, and to keep pace with the rapid progress of the times. An English philosopher once said "We know diseases of stoppings and suffocations are the most dangerous in the body, and it is not much otherwise with the mind." Teachers afflicted with such stoppings and suffocations of the mind need not apply here. It is the duty of our teachers by thought, study, reading, interchange of ideas and by all possible means within their power to put themselves upon the plane of leadership in every sense of the word.

STATE AID.

Having been asked concerning the School Fund and State Aid several times, I think it well to answer again some of the questions at this time so that "all who run may read."

The Massachusetts School Fund, from which the income is derived, was established by an act of the legislature, in 1834, which provided that all moneys in the treasury from the sale of lands in Maine and from claims of the State on the government of the United States for military services, and not otherwise appropriated, together with fifty per cent. of all moneys thereafter to be received from the sale of lands in Maine, shall be appropriated to constitute a permanent fund for the aid and encouragement of common schools, provided that said fund shall not exceed $1,000,000.

In 1854 the fund was increased to $1,500,000. In 1859 provision was made for indefinite enlargement. In 1861 the increase of the fund was limited by providing that the addition thereto of sums received from the sales of public lands, as provided for in 1859, should cease as soon as the principal of the fund should reach the sum of $2,000,000. In 1882 $700,000 was added to the fund.

In 1890 $700,000 was added from the refunding of the United States direct tax. In 1894 the principal was fixed at $5,000,000, to be accumulated by the addition of $100,000, annually, from the proceeds of the State tax. The amount of the fund January, 1902, was $4,470,548.14.

By the laws of 1903, chap. 41, R. L., most towns whose valuation is less than $2,500,000 get nearly double the amount, and a few towns get double the aid received under the former law.

The money received must be spent for school purposes, and an account of the way it is spent must be sent to the secretary of the Board of Education. Otherwise the allowances may be withheld.

The purpose of the law is to improve the schools, not to lessen local taxation, and the law is so arranged that if a town raises less money than it has in the past, it will receive less money from the state school fund. This money is paid January 25th. By the former law Dana received $495.81. By the new law she receives $500, on the valuation and $478.27 on the ratio, making a total of $987.27. If our ratio is greater next year, of course we get more state aid. I feel that at least some of this money should be spent in increasing the salaries of teachers. A portion may well be appropriated for increasing the efficiency of our janitor service. At the present janitor salary, competent service cannot be secured. We should demand the service that I have suggested under "Duties of Janitors" and pay a suitable price for it. The ethical side of the child's education cannot be easily cultivated in a room not kept clean, neat and attractive, or in a yard filled with decayed fruit and waste paper.

TEACHERS.

Last, but not least, are the teachers who have so kindly and willingly cooperated with me in all my efforts in working for that which is highest and noblest for our schools. My relations with them have been most cordial and pleasant, and the town is to be congratulated upon the efficiency of its teaching force.

In closing I wish to thank the Committee for their hearty support and kindness to me, and their willingness to do everything in their power for the good of the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

W. D. DAVIS,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF

Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent and School Board:—

In my last report I mentioned the Weaver method of teaching music in public schools, and was at that time very much in favor of adopting the system. Since then I have attended the Weaver Summer School, and also spent three days teaching in Mr. Weaver's schools, under his direction. Now I feel surer than ever that by this method the very best results can be obtained.

I introduced the method at the beginning of the school year in September, and now find the children progressing in every school. By this method each and every child is taught to sing and to read music independently. Each child sings alone and does his work without the aid of any other voices. The basis of the entire system is the child's independence, and nothing is done to destroy this. The two elements of music, time and tune, are taught purely by imitation. All children are born imitators and learn everything from hearing or seeing others do—so in music they learn from hearing and by imitating.

Since September, when all began alike with the very foundation principles of music, the children of all grades above the fourth have learned to read music in all of the fifteen major keys. This, alone, is more than they have ever accomplished before during the whole year. By this I do not mean that they can read any music which might be put before them, but they can read any music which contains only the difficulties which they have studied this year, no matter what the key signature may be.

In the first three grades no signatures are taught. The children read the music with the aid of the check mark (x) to locate do, and it makes not the slightest difference to them where the do is placed. Up to this time the second and third grades have learned to sing whole, half, dotted half, and quarter notes. They can read and sing readily the first five tones of the scale and are now beginning work upon the remainder of the scale.

The first grade sing the first five tones, but read only the first three tones as yet, and know nothing of the different kinds of notes—the note-head being all that has been shown them.

I venture to say that there is no child in the public schools of Dana who cannot learn to sing. To some it is a much more difficult task than to others, but a short visit to either of the primary rooms, during a music lesson, will prove to any one of ordinary intelligence that ninety-nine out of every hundred children can be taught to sing. To any person who is the least bit prejudiced against school music, I would say—go into school and learn what the children are doing; watch them during the entire year; then, if you are honest with yourself, you will be convinced that the study of music is as important and shows as much result as any branch of study in the school curriculum.

I desire very much that the parents and friends of the children visit the schools and see what they are accomplishing in music. I am sure you would all be more interested than you think to see the progress the children make month by month.

I am very grateful to Mr. Davis for the help he has given me in introducing this method, also to the teachers, who have so willingly responded, and for whom it is a hard task to learn and teach a method so entirely different from the old one. I wish to thank the members of the school committee who have kindly and liberally furnished us with the necessary supplies, without which the work could not possibly advance. It is the help and encouragement of those with whom supervisors of music work, which is making the study of music in public schools the success it already is.

Respectfully,

S. MAUDE AMSDEN.

Dana, Feb. 2, 1905.

REPORT OF THE

Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Dana:

The first annual report of the Superintendent of Schools is herewith submitted. It is the third of this department under district supervision. A report of the Supervisor of Drawing and the Supervisor of Music, a school calendar, and a table of statistics is appended. These are valuable for reference, and they furnish such information as is likely to be sought by parents and others interested in the schools.

Through the provident care of those who have been entrusted with the public school interests, and the liberal appropriation of the town, we are enjoying the use of a building vastly improved both in external appearance and in interior arrangement, and made sufficient for the use of the North Dana schools for many years. When the schools began in the fall a new room was opened for grades three, four and five, in charge of Miss Florence I. Carter, of Winchendon. The little children of grades one and two have been very pleasantly and profitably taught by Miss Mary L. Hoyt, whose reputation as a teacher is well known here. Mrs. Frankie E. Roberts, of Worcester, took up the work in the grammar room with sixth, eighth and ninth grades, but at Thanksgiving she resigned to be married. She was succeeded by Miss Nellie L. Wyman, of Meriden, N. H. The primary room at Dana Center also opened with a new teacher, Miss Irene F. Norton, of Vineyard Haven, and Miss Alice E. Buck, who has taught the grammar room for several years, was welcomed back again. These two rooms opened with the same classification as formerly:—grades one to four in the primary, with all above the fourth grade being cared for in the grammar department. The presence of one of last year's graduates has been a help and inspiration here. Miss Helen W. Traver, of Hartford, was appointed in October to supervise the work in drawing, but in January was tendered a most unexpected opportunity for study abroad. She asked to be relieved for the remainder of the year and Mrs. Lucy A. Gatchell was selected to substitute during her absence.

Your superintendent believes it his duty to know of the work in every school and in all classes, for his business is to supervise all the work in every department. The teachers have co-operated most heartily in assisting him to keep in touch with the work, and all have labored faithfully and in entire sympathy with the new administration. Few short calls have been made but visits of a reasonable length seem to be more profitable, though they be less frequent. In the visits we have endeavored to observe carefully the methods of each teacher; to examine the work done, or expected to be done, by the pupil; to estimate justly the general and special results secured; and to note the failure to secure the expected or desired results. Only by a thorough understanding of the work each teacher is doing can a superintendent have that knowledge which will enable him to be most helpful to the teacher; and only by a just and generous appreciation of the faithful and conscientious work done by both teacher and pupil can he come into those cordial and sympathetic relations with the schools which are among the most helpful and inspiring influences in the schoolroom. The register is examined and absences noted. When these absences are frequent inquiry is made and an explanation is asked for. The discipline is observed, suggestions in regard to school management and attendance are made, and attention is called to approved methods of teaching and to how the teaching may be most effective.

It has been urged upon the attention of the committee and teachers that the superintendent be notified whenever a school be not in session upon a regular school day; also whenever there may be a session upon Saturday or other holiday. In view of the rights of the other towns in the district, the necessity of such a regulation is apparent. Many of the teachers have been careful in this matter but there has been an occasional instance of neglect, by which some of the visits of the supervisor and the superintendent fail to appear upon the registers.

In the conduct of the schools we have tried to utilize whatever of good there may be in material, means and method, and while avoiding startling changes, to work gradually toward a high and uniform standard. In this way, it is hoped, even radical reforms may be wrought while steady advancement is made. Other changes will be suggested as occasion may require and experience demonstrate their usefulness. Real progress in education is of slow growth, and time is a very important factor.

The improvement in your schools during the time I have been connected with them has been along old-fashioned lines, for while there has been no change in the time schedule of studies, more emphasis has been placed upon the "three r's." The same law that requires the teaching of reading, writing and arithmetic requires also that instruction shall be given in drawing. The nature of the subject demands the care of a special supervisor and your schools have been thus favored for about a year, but of course the work in this branch of art instruction is as yet only in its infancy and it is too early to expect great results. The chief aim and duty is to lead the children to see the beautiful around them, to help them to appreciate it, and to encourage them to make for themselves a world beautiful in a world of facts. Color, form and arrangement are subjects on which much time can be spent and from which much can be learned.

Unlike the work in drawing the school committee may or may not require instruction in vocal music, but there is a great deal of musical ability among the children in your schools and it has been surprising to see how readily and gladly they have entered into this work under Miss Amsden, the supervisor. She is using successfully the same methods in an adjoining town where she has established the work upon an excellent basis and is showing remarkable results. The results thus far in our schools are all that could be expected.

In order to determine intelligently what instruction shall be given to all the children at public expense it is necessary to consider the purpose of the public schools and the reason for their existence. Schools for the children of all the people are necessary for the welfare, if not for the continued existence, of a government by the people and it is for this reason that they are supported at public expense. It is for the protection of the state that compulsory attendance laws are enacted. The schools are state institutions. The state commands that they be supported. It requires the town authorities to provide them with competent teachers, and the teachers with suitable means of teaching; and it also requires all children of school age to go regularly to school. All the children must attend, under compulsion if necessary, for a sufficient time to acquire the rudiments of good citizenship, and the subjects and methods of instruction must be such as to guarantee more successes than failures in the process. We must prepare the children of to-day for citizenship; not by casting aside the traditions of our public schools, but rather by fostering all that is good in them and by the extension to all the schools of the best to be found in the most effective schools, as the teachers are prepared to assume the added responsibilities. In order to prepare our youth for citizenship they muat be taught not less arithmetic but more, and it must be better taught. Our young men and women must be better penmen and must read more intelligently. But the work of the schools must not stop here. It must be so broadened as to include moral and physical development as well as the higher intellectual discipline that has been conferred formerly in none but the best schools. The true test of teaching is the desire and power manifested in the pupil. Our teachers are conscientiously applying themselves to the practical application in daily instruction of some of the highest ideals of the best teachers. Our schools can only succeed, and can only justify themselves before an intelligent public, through the measurable success of these earnest efforts. The good of the schools demands that there should be a high, but attainable standard. There must be no retrograde movement and with a common purpose, with unity of action, there need be none. The desire for the best possible for all should end in its attainment.

The policy which has been pursued by your board of granting to the teachers at different times throughout the year a day for visiting other schools, is commendable, and may be productive of much real benefit to our schools. It has been thought by some that these days are mere holidays. They should be days of hard and conscientious work on the part of the teachers. The visits should not be made indiscriminately, nor for the purpose of a social call upon some friend and co-worker. The day should be taken during the first half of the term, so that there may appear in the subsequent work the special benefit that the school derives, and the superintendent should always be consulted regarding time and place. The teachers have been expected to render to the superintendent an account of their visits in accordance with a printed form that is given them. A portion of the form is as follows:

6. Exercises conducted, time spent in each? State fully what was done while you were in the room.

7. What especially interested you?

8. What did you see which you think it would be well to introduce into your own work?

9. What did you see which you would avoid?

10. To what extent were you benefited by visiting, and in what ways?

It can readily be seen that these reports may be of great help to the visiting teacher. Extracts from those on file will be of interest as showing their character:

"I saw the need, as never before, of care in conducting the reading in my own classes."

"I came back more than ever determined to have good order."

"I saw nothing to avoid."

"I gained ideas as to busy work."

"I was benefited chiefly by watching throughout the day two systematic teachers."

"I had grown careless. I hope this time I can remember and profit."

In dispensing supplies the exercise of a wise forethought is imperative. Whatever is needed should be at hand, with the register, upon the first morning of the term. The teachers have been requested to transmit at the close of each term a requisition for such books and supplies as may be needed for the next term. Besides reducing the number of requisitions to the minimum, much of the annoyance due to frequent applications and the inconvenience of sending often to distant schools may thus be avoided.

When we consider the inexperience and lack of training of many teachers, and how difficult a task it necessarily must be to manage and keep in proper condition for successful study and school work children of such various dispositions and habits, many of them but little accustomed to wholesome discipline at home, it is truly surprising that so little friction has occurred in the discipline of the schools. This department of school work requires rare tact and great wisdom, and fortunate are they who possess the qualities of mind and heart that adapt them to so important a trust. The teacher who is a poor disciplinarian cannot be a first-class instructor, for that happy relation which exists between teacher and pupil, in a well managed school, is most favorable for the teacher to impart, and for the pupil to receive profitable instruction. Those teachers succeed best in discipline whose bearing before their pupils is quiet and self-possessed; who set a good example of earnest industry, cheerfulness and well-tempered enthusiasm; who are reasonable in their requirements, prudently commending well doing, and cautiously reproving when needed; and who have a sympathy with all the conditions of childhood. Just in so far as the town is able to secure permanency in the teaching force the benefits derived from the work of the superintendent will be continuous. The zeal with which your teachers, in general, have sought to apply the advice and suggestions given them has rendered his work pleasant.

In closing, I desire to thank the citizens and committee for their most cordial reception when I began my work, and for their hearty support at all times. I can speak in no uncertain terms of the inspiration and strength I have received from working with those who have dealt with my faults so leniently, and whose advice and judgment I have felt so free to ask at all times.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS A. PRATT,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF THE
Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent and School Board:

For the past year and a half the children of Dana have received instruction in music under the Weaver Method, and the progress they have made is very marked, especially in the lower grades where the results must necessarily be seen first. Before I adopted this method I studied it carefully, and heard arguments both for and against it. Almost invariably, the people who did not favor the system were those who knew very little or nothing about it. Some had used the Individual Sight Singing Exercises in their own way,—not at all as Mr. Weaver had intended them to be used,—and others were prejudiced against the man and his method. But those who had seen the excellent results obtained from this way of teaching children to sing and read music, could not say enough in praise of the Weaver Method. Having had the actual experience in teaching this method, I feel justified in saying that I can get better results and more interest on the part of both teachers and pupils than by any other method of teaching music about which I know.

By the close of the present school year,—June, 1905,—I hope to have brought the first four grades up to the standard of the course; the remaining grades having begun at the very foundation with first grade work are advancing steadily, and in due time will reach the grade standard. In a few words I will tell you just what the boys and girls of Dana are doing with the study of music. In the first grade the children learn only the first five tones of the scale, a very little staff notation, and make a beginning in time work by learning to sing a slow steady beat. The second grade studies the remainder of the scale, reads exercises with do in any position upon the staff, and sings whole, half, dotted half, and quarter notes. The third, fourth and fifth grades are studying chromatics, and understand the use of a sharp, double sharp, flat, double flat and cancel. They can read and sing music written in any of the fifteen major keys, and besides the kinds of notes mentioned above they have learned the group of two eighth notes, and the dotted quarter and eighth note. They are beginning the study of two voice music and I find them interested in this, and making a marked improvement. The grammar grades have made a thorough review of this elementary work and are studying the triplet in both simple and compound time. The North Dana grammar school has a four part chorus capable of reading fairly difficult music at sight; the Dana Center grammar school has a two part chorus which is doing thorough work and making good progress considering the number of grades in the room.

In closing I wish to thank the teachers for their willingness to do whatever work I have given them. I am exceedingly grateful to them for their untiring patience in practicing over and over the things which are little more than drudgery, but which are so important. I urge you, as parents and friends of the children, to visit the schools and hear the children sing in order that you may judge for yourselves as to the advantages the children are having in the study of music.

Very respectfully,

S. MAUDE AMSDEN.
Supervisor of Music.

Dana, Feb. 1, 1906.

REPORT OF THE

Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Dana:

The second annual report of the Superintendent of Schools is herewith presented for your consideration, It is the fourth of this department under district supervision. Accompanying this report will be found the usual school calendar and table of statistics, and the reports of the Supervisors of Drawing, and of Vocal Music.

When the schools opened in the fall only two changes in the list of teachers became necessary. In the intermediate room at North Dana Florence I. Carter was succeeded by Jennie M. Day of Monson. Miss Day came to us with several years' experience in teaching in the schools of North Brookfield and Palmer. Early in the fall term Miss Hoyt felt compelled to ask for a substitute on account of the serious illness of her father. Mabel L. Crafts, of Whately, a graduate of the Westfield Normal School, was engaged, and when Miss Hoyt decided not to return this engagement was made permanent. Florence I. Goodenough, of Brattleboro, Vt., was elected Supervisor of Drawing to succeed Mrs. Lucy A. Gatchell, who had been substituting for a half year in that department. Miss Goodenough has charge also of this work in the schools of Orange, where she had been previously employed for a year. She is a graduate of the State Normal

Art School, Boston, in the public school class, and has substituted in the schools of Brattleboro.

On June 16, 1905, six pupils were graduated from the North Dana grammar school. Their parts were as follows:

"American Progress," George Louis Canuel.

"The United States Postal Service," Lester Lewis Hager.

"Red Cross Work," Goldie Blanche Doubleday.

"History of North Dana," Abbie Ann Crawford.

"Japan, Land of the Rising Sun," Randolph Washburn Gordon.

"Onward" (class motto), Olive Frances Nolette.

Of this class two are attending Wesleyan Academy, at Wilbraham; the Athol High school and the New Salem High school claim one each; one is in business and one at home.

The work of teaching and drill in all the departments of study has been pushed with the usual vigor and with a fair degree of success. It has been carried on with the consciousness that there were many weak points that needed strengthening, and that in many ways more power to gain knowledge should be secured to the children than, in the time allotted, they were accustomed to receive. Constant vigilance has been employed to detect failures and discover the means to correct them and prevent their repetition. It is felt very generally, and with increasing force year by year, by the wise and faithful teacher, that the best possible opportunity should be afforded the child and that this has not been accomplished unless he has been aroused to voluntary effort. He must be stimulated to exercise his mental powers to the utmost in the acquirement of knowledge. Only by this means can he grow and secure the full development of his faculties. Hence every effort is made to awaken thought.

If arithmetic is the subject of study, by constant and persistent appeals to the concrete, processes are discovered and mastered, and ability to interpret and solve problems developed.

In geography, or any other branch, the blind memorizing of facts and details is discouraged, and in natural ways that interest and stimulate, the child is helped to discover for himself, make inferences and draw conclusions. Then follows the repetition, long continued and varied, by which the essentials of the subject are fixed and the mind trained to the ready use of its powers.

Language is a very comprehensive branch of study. It embraces certain artificial laws—the etiquette of speech. Mere glib expression is not enough; we must know the accepted canons. The Old Education, which concerned itself so much with technical grammar, and the New Education which concerns itself so much with language, as a fine art, should be combined. Our forefathers were not all wrong: they did some things well. I think that all the old-fashioned analysis and parsing that is strictly English, and not in any sense Latin or Greek, should be taught to-day. The more recent departures in language-teaching, while attended by great gains, have not been taken without some losses. Let us hold tenaciously to that which is good in the Old Education, and accept without hesitation that which is good in the New.

Reading and spelling, vocal music, drawing and penmanship are all parts of one and the same general subject, expression, and we are seeking to treat them more and more as such, especially in the lower grades, and so carry them right along together. By well-directed efforts we aim to make our boys and girls appreciative and thoughtful readers,—to make them love reading for reading's sake, and find in it an intellectual pastime—to make them understand what they read and get the most possible from the printed page.

The spelling book is not discarded in our schools, but by a more systematic teaching of spelling we are obtaining more gratifying results. The words selected for spelling are largely those, the meaning of which has been brought out in the development of the reading and language lessons, and special attention is given to oft-recurring simple words.

Special effort is needed to improve the deplorable school attendance. The statute requirement is so exacting and is so imperfectly understood that a summary of the law is appended to this report. Would that we might adequately present to the parents of our pupils the importance of more perfect school attendance. Knowing that regularity of attendance is the first requirement for a successful school, and believing that the welfare of your children and the success of their school life are your dearest care, we appeal to you to try to send them every session during the coming term. No school can be of a very high order in which children are allowed by their parents to stay out every now and then on the most frivolous pretext. Such children are a moth to any school. The child should understand that while he is attending school, school is the main thing. You cannot impress him with the idea that education is something to be valued and prized and striven for with earnestness and patience,—in other words you cannot educate him at all,—unless it is made the great thing, to which other things, your own convenience and fancies, must bend. Not many realize how much the town annually pays for the education of these absent children. The waste cannot be measured in dollars and cents alone. It is insignificant in comparison with the exceedingly great loss which the misfortune or perversity of the pupil entails upon his associates. An incalculable amount of pupil's time and teacher's energies is thus wasted in fruitless and wearisome repetitions and reviews which would otherwise rapidly advance our schools to a degree of excellence which, under existing conditions, we can never hope to reach. This is unquestionably the evil above all others which cripples our schools and defeats our most earnest and persistent efforts. The direct financial loss each year can be computed; the indirect loss to the lives and prospects of our youth is so great that it is difficult to think of it with patience, and to speak of it with moderation. Teachers can do much toward enlisting the co-operation of parents. Investigation frequently reveals the fact that the home life of the child is an important factor to be taken into consideration. The strong arm of the law is needed at times, but the true mission of the truant officer is to secure attendance, not to prosecute children. His work is with the parents.

Much encouragement may be derived from a retrospect of the past year's work. Hindrances have been experienced but in the main a steady and healthful growth may be fairly noted. In some lines of work improvements have been made which promise an increasing degree of efficiency as time passes on. We are pleased to note these improvements and gratifying are the words of praise which have come to us from those who have taken pains to visit the schools.

In conclusion, allow me to express my appreciation of our faithful teachers, and of the conservative attitude of committee and citizens toward the educational interests of the town. Thanking you for the uniform kindness extended to me in the prosecution of my work, I am,

With great respect,

LOUIS A. PRATT,

Superintendent of Schools.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

REVISED LAWS, CHAPTER 44.

Every child between the ages of seven and fourteen years is required to attend some public day school during the entire time such schools are in session, unless

(1). He attends for a like period of time a private day school approved by the school committee; or unless

(2). He is otherwise instructed for a like period of time in the branches of learning required by law to be taught in the public schools; or unless

(3). He has already acquired such branches of learning; or unless

(4). His physical or mental condition is such as to render his attendance inexpedient or impracticable.

The superintendent of schools, and teachers acting under his authority, may excuse cases of necessary absence.

Until otherwise instructed teachers are authorized to excuse, as necessary, absence:

(1). Due to child's own sickness;

(2). Due to contagious diseases in household;

(3). Due to death in family.

But they will not legally excuse absence due to:

(1). Failure of parents, or other responsible parties, to provide necessary clothing.

(2). Desire of parents to utilize the labor of the child.

(3). Failure to enter school promptly when changing schools.

REPORT OF THE
Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Music, as it is now being taught in the public schools, is a most important study and should be considered, not a special, but a regular study which should share in the promotion ranks. It employs more faculties and gives the children a broader development than any study in the school curriculum. It teaches them to hear, see and think quickly and to express accurately what they hear and see, more than this—it teaches them to enjoy good music. It is an indispensable adjunct to reading and language, for all children are careless of distinction of sounds. They read and speak naturally without distinctness and with harsh and unmusical voices. From the first grade the study of music teaches them to use their voices properly and to enunciate clearly.

Music advances the social pleasure of any community; gives pure enjoyment to one alone or in company, enriches the services of the church, cultivates discrimination and taste, and uplifts society. People are prompted to sing more often than they are called upon to measure a wood-pile or to name the principle industries of some foreign city. Therefore, I repeat, music is one of the most important studies of the school curriculum.

Since my last report the children of the Dana schools have made steady progress, becoming more proficient in reading music, being able now to sing with much better tone quality and thus better able to render their choruses and songs well. I find the new books a great help and a source of enjoyment, as well as study, to the children.

In closing I wish to thank all the teachers who have shown so much interest in this branch of study, for their faithful work, also the superintendent and committee for their ready response and support in whatever direction I have needed it.

Respectfully,

S. MAUDE AMSDEN.

REPORT OF THE
Supervisor of Drawing.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

In accordance with your request I herewith submit my first report of the work done in drawing, under my direction, in the public schools of Dana.

Both teachers and pupils entered into the work with a show of interest and enthusiasm most encouraging.

The time allotted to drawing is ninety minutes weekly, this being divided into two sections of forty-five minutes each, one conducted by the supervisor and the other by the grade teacher.

In the primary department the course has included, so far, color work, nature and object drawing and pictorial work, the latter being of great value to children of this age in as much as it develops natural spontaneity and makes expression by line as familiar as by word. As the year proceeds the children will draw from the pose, animals and the spring buds and flowers.

The intermediate grades have followed the same course to some extent, beginning in the fall with nature drawing, then color theory and object drawing. The study of proportion and foreshortening, and drill with ruler and compass fit the children for the more thorough work of the grammar school. Here the work has been a careful study of detail and theory in all branches, color, nature, object and mechanical drawing.

An interesting and profitable departure from regular drawing has been the making of simple objects from paper, raffier and wood, which was accomplished at Christmas time. The result was very gratifying.

The work has been pleasant and the children responsive to all efforts of supervisor and teacher.

I wish to thank all connected with the work for their hearty co-operation, and you for your helpful support.

Yours respectfully,

FLORENCE I. GOODENOUGH.

The work of the Center Library has been very active during the year, both old and young have shown much interest in reading matter, and their many different tastes are well supplied with books from the best authors, and latest publications.

During the year Miss Grace Oakes, chairman of the board of trustees, resigned. Miss Oakes had been on the board a long time, and proved an earnest and efficient worker.

Petersham Memorial Library sent a donation of twenty-six volumes to this library, of duplicate books. An umber of State Laws, vital records and other books of reference have been received.

Respectfully.

REPORT OF THE

Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee:

The third annual report of the Superintendent of Schools is herewith submitted. It is the fifth of this department under direct supervision. In response to the requirements of the State Board of Education, and conforming to a custom which is uniform throughout the state, the usual table of statistics covers the school year from September, 1905, to June, 1906. This is supplemented by an additional tabulated statement to February, 1907. A study of the table will reveal much that is of interest to one who wishes to understand the general condition of the schools. The record may be of value for comparison with that of other years as well as being of present interest. The reports of the Supervisors of Drawing and of Vocal Music, and the school calendar is appended.

During the summer Miss Crafts declined a re-election to the North Dana Primary school and she was succeeded by Miss Eda V. Archibald of Hartford, Conn. Miss Katie M. Bachelder of New Salem was appointed to the position made vacant through the resignation of Miss Buck at the Dana Center Grammar school. Mrs. Thompson, of the Dana Center Primary, asked a release at the Thanksgiving recess and Miss Ethel M. Willcutt of Chester succeeded her.

On June 8, 1906, a union graduation of the grammar schools was held at Good Templars' Hall, North Dana. Diplomas were awarded to seven pupils of the North school and three from the Center. Their graduation parts were as follows:

"In Quest of the North Pole," Felise Anna Cooley.

"Thomas Alva Edison," Charles Henry Fischer.

"The Flying Dutchman," Alice Louise Stevens.

"The Railroads of the Nation," Spencer Elbridge Towne.

"Toussaint L'Ouverture," Ida Elsie Carey.

"Old Steamboat Days on the Missouri River," Wilbur Webster Gavill.

"Colonial Massachusetts," Harold Wesson Brown.

"Abdul Hamid, Sultan of Turkey," George Fred Hyde.

"The Miserere," Ruth Hale Crawford.

"The Wayside Inn," Ella Louisa Vaughn.

Seven of this class entered high school, two went to work and one remained at home on account of ill health.

By act of the Legislature at its last session medical inspection of the schools becomes a necessity. The act provides:

I. That the school committee of every city and town shall appoint a school physician for every public school, and shall provide that every child who seems to be in ill health shall be promptly seen by the school physician.

II. That the sight and hearing of all children in the public schools shall be annually tested by the teachers.

No expense can be incurred by any city or town until an appropriation for the purpose has been made. The tests of sight and hearing, however, involve no expense to the city or town, inasmuch as they are made by the teachers and the blanks and materials for making them are supplied by the State Board of Education. It is very important to observe and to point out how small an appropriation is needed. Against the expense must be placed the saving to the community from cutting off one of the chief channels for the spread of infectious disease, especially diphtheria and scarlet fever, a saving not only in the life and health of the children but in that of the community at large.

In the matter of sight and hearing tests, it is provided in the law that the method of making these tests shall be prescribed by the State Board of Health and that printed directions for making them shall be distributed by the State Board of Education. The tests are to be made by the teachers, and a teacher who knows the children can test both the sight and hearing for each child in about five minutes. Our teachers have made the tests, and in accordance with the statute have sent formal notice to the parents of defective children. A large number are defective in sight to the extent of needing glasses to do their school work properly, to prevent permanent injury to their eyes, or to avoid great nervous strain. The defects of sight increase with the length of school attendance and as a consequence of it. About five per cent are defective in hearing so as to seriously interfere with their school work. The percentage of defects of hearing varies from week to week with weather and other conditions. It is of especial importance that only a small minority of these defects of sight and hearing would be discovered by the teachers or known to them, to the parents, or to the children themselves. The results of children attempting to do school work while subject to these defects include injury to the eyes, resulting in blindness; injury to the nervous system due to eye strain; depression owing to inability to do what other children can do. Such inability proceeding in the opinion of the teacher, the parent, and the child himself, from mental deficiency, when really the cause is inability to see, or inability to hear.

Stephen Witt, M. D., has been appointed school physician and supplied with the necessary notification blanks. Whenever a child shows symptoms of smallpox, scarlet fever, measles, chickenpox, tuberculosis, diphtheria or influenza, tonsilitis, whooping cough, mumps, contagious eye diseases, or parasitic diseases of the head or body, he shall be sent home immediately, and the board of health shall at once be notified. It will be noted that Section 5 of the statute provides for examination of every child "to ascertain whether he is suffering from defective sight or hearing or from any other disability or defect tending to prevent his receiving the full benefit of his school work, or requiring a modification of the school work in order to prevent injury to the child or to secure the best educational results. This may be interpreted to include nervous weakness, anemia, bad teeth, and many other matters. Notice of the disease or defects, if any, from which any child is found to be suffering must be sent to his parent or guardian.

Under a perfect system of inspection will be developed manifold responsibilities. The examination of the eyes and ears alone will forestall measureless sufferings and, thanks to the examiner, these organs will be preserved for a more useful future. By this same system of inspection many cases of spinal distortion and stooped shoulders will be averted. Everything about the building that relates to its hygiene should be under the inspector's watchful eye. The heating, the temperature, the ventilation, the disinfection, and the sanitary closets would be supervised by one competent to know the exact requirements of all these departments.

The school authorities outside the principal cities of our country have been slow to make use of the great advantages of medical inspection. It is not a fad,—it is an ideal application of the "ounce of prevention." No school is too large for its scope and none too small to dispense with it. It is a safe prediction that another decade will find the practice general. Delay, therefore, in instituting the regular inspection of the schools is not wise ; it is better to be a leader in a good movement than to be dragged into it later from fear of the shame of standing opposed to public good.

In this connection reference to the sixty-sixth report of the secretary of the state board of education may be permitted. He speaks of the pressure of the irresponsible. The pressure of the aggregate of interests—when to the pressure from a single interest there are added pressures from numerous other interests — may become formidable and oppressive, far beyond the capacity of the schools to endure. This pressure is largely a pressure from irresponsible persons, —that is, from persons who are not charged with the direct and immediate management of school affairs. Such persons are responsible, indeed, in a general way as citizens, but not in the special way in which members of a school committee are responsible. They are usually worthy people who want to improve the schools and to work with school authorities for the purpose. Less hampered than those authorities by adverse and stubborn facts that have to be reckoned with, their suggestions often have a freedom and a sweep exhilarating to note but hard to put into practice. Perhaps they urge vacation schools or a shorter school year ; the school museum, school gardening, school decoration, or that school sanitation is of supreme importance and the children should be medically inspected. They would have the schools give more attention than they now do to drawing, to music, to nature study, to manual work, or to whatever they deem of special importance. And so on through a long list of plans and propositions, a few of them visionary, many of them admirable and some of them imperative.

These ideas are not to be summarily disposed of as the frills and fads of education. Large numbers of these propositions merit not simply consideration, but positive recognition in the administration of the schools. It is the duty of citizens, however, to reflect upon what it means for the school committee to bear the brunt of all these propositions. Let the board sympathize ever so heartily with each of them as separately presented and defended, it cannot handle them all at once. Indeed, it cannot even patiently listen to them all without seriously reducing that time and energy which it must have to act upon some of them. Call it the pressure of measures or the pressure of persons, the school committee must stand between the aggregate of this pressure and another aggregate,—that of opposing school conditions, of difficulties in raising money, of a public opinion untrained to advanced ideas, and, in general, of that conservatism that vast systems tend to develop and strengthen.

What should be the attitude of the friends of the schools toward these innumerable suggestions for their welfare? First of all, they should rejoice that so many thoughtful people are alive to the importance of making the schooling of the children more natural, sensible and effective, if possible, than it has been in the past. This striving for better things means growth and life for the school system; it is immeasurably superior to that indifference which means stagnation and decay. On the other hand, the school committee can advance but a step or two at a time; and it cannot do this usually without the supporting power of a vigorous public opinion. And so there stands out the duty of concentrating effort on selected measures for improvement; and with it the duty of waiving certain measures until more opportune times; and finally the duty of confidence and loyalty, and of bearing patiently with the school committee, whose task of carrying out a progressive policy is as liable to be impeded by the aggregate of good things it is urged to do as by the aggregate of resistances it is forced to encounter.

Meanwhile, let it not be forgotten that, so far as the school is provided with strong teachers, its great work is going on effectively, notwithstanding visions of a greater work that is possible. Without the competent teacher, many of the new things done for the welfare of the schools are likely to be disappointing. With the competent teacher, such new things as may be added to or substituted for the old are more likely to tell effectively for such welfare. It should not be overlooked that the most important element in the teacher's qualifications is not to be found in academic scholarship, essential as this is, not in the power to hold a school in order, essential as this is, but in the rarer and finer power of leading the child to act judiciously, earnestly and advantageously for himself in the enlargement of his executive and productive capacity, in the acquisition of knowledge and particularly of those larger underlying principles that enable him to classify and utilize knowledge, in the cultivation of a sturdy civic spirit, and in the building up of a well-rounded and admirable character.

It is a wise provision of the law of this Commonwealth that provides for regular instruction in "physiology and hygiene and good behavior." In other words, the state provides not only for the mental training of the child, but for physical and moral education as well. The care of the health, and the physical welfare of the children under her care should be a matter of first importance to the teacher. Great care concerning proper heating and ventilating of the schoolroom and the avoidance of draughts should be exercised. Physical exercises adapted to the needs of the children should occupy an important place in the daily program, and in the lower grades these exercises should be introduced whenever the children have been held to one position for a considerable time, or are in need of a change. We would teach good manners and good morals as the foundation of good character and the basis of true citizenship, and would endeavor to inspire in the hearts and minds of all our boys and girls a high ideal and a genuine desire for a noble life.

Closely connected with the above thoughts are others. Unguarded criticism in the presence of the pupil in the home promptly undermines the respect due the teacher. The evil effects of unfavorable home influences have been felt this year in the schools. Anything that will bring about a closer union between home and school will be of great benefit to both. A greater knowledge, each of the other, will create a bond of sympathy, confidence and support. Parents do not, as a rule, visit the schools, or not enough. Many parents never visit, and the loss by this neglect, to parent and school, can hardly be estimated. With all their other duties teachers can not, as often as they would, visit the homes of a large number of pupils. When they do so it is too often because they must, in order to settle some unnecessary difficulty, rather than to consult and devise means for mutual assistance. A knowledge on the part of a teacher of the child's surroundings would materially help that teacher in determining what her individual work with that pupil should be; a knowledge on the part of the parent of what the schools are attempting to do would make him more willing to assist. The parent has a great interest in the welfare of his child, but this interest usually manifests itself spasmodically, and it takes some unusual occasion to make it do so at all. The taxpayers are liberal in their support of the schools, as liberal perhaps as they feel that they can afford to be. Would that they were as liberal in their sympathy openly expressed! Would that they felt even more keenly that the schools are theirs — that what is being done for them and in them is being done for their children, and that nothing that is good can be too good for them! It is for the parents to say whether or not the schools are what they wish them to be, or as good as they would have them. They can make them what they will.

In conclusion, I wish to thank all who have in any way assisted in trying to make our schools better. The administration of the town's schools has been largely and properly along lines previously laid down. New things have been only steps forward, let us hope, from vantage ground already gained. This suggests the situation in New England towns generally. Their schools are evolutions. Present conditions may be considered as resulting from a long series of "survivals of the fittest," again and again being shaped to latest needs, often touched and retouched by hands of varying skill. However, it is safe to say that nowhere else in America have these shaping hands been guided by hearts more loyal to the one great aim of making the schools serve for upright manhood and womanhood, good scholarship, and intelligent, pure citizenship.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS A. PRATT,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF THE

Supervisor of Vocal Music.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The course pursued in music has been virtually upon the same lines as that of several preceding years. I have endeavored to present this subject to the children by means of the very best methods, and with this purpose in mind, attended the Weaver Summer Music school of 1906, where I gained much that is helpful to the pupils.

The Individual Sight Singing Method has been employed throughout all the grades, and in this course the children have advanced farther this year than ever before. They are becoming able to read music from a printed page at sight, with accuracy and assurance.

Aside from the oral individual work a certain amount of written work is required of each pupil, and in both branches of the study every school in your town is making good progress. The pleasanter side of music, song singing, is not being neglected, and it is my sincere purpose to develop in the minds and hearts of these children a love for good music, and an ability to understand and appreciate the works of the masters. The primary schools learn many really fine songs by rote, and the intermediate and grammar grades sing the songs from their music readers, many of them being arranged from the classics.

In closing I desire to express my thanks to Mr. Pratt for his support and interest in my work. I feel especially grateful to the teachers, all of whom have labored faithfully and effectively week by week, and without whose aid I should be entirely unable to make the study of music a success.

Respectfully,

S. MAUDE AMSDEN.

REPORT OF THE

Supervisor of Drawing.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:—I herewith submit a report of the drawing done in our schools during the past year.

The time allowance is ninety minutes each week, this being divided into periods of different length according to the grade.

The course of study is as follows: September and October are devoted to drawing from the fall growths, flowers, fruits and vegetables, together with a study of color theory. November and December are spent on construction work and design, one problem being the planning and making of some article for a Christmas gift. During January and February the time is spent on pictorial drawing and the thorough study of the principles of foreshortening and perspective. March and April are the months devoted to figure and animal drawing, and May and June follow with the drawing and painting of the spring growths.

Detailed outlines are furnished each teacher by the supervisor, and the results are satisfactory and prove our corps of teachers efficient in this branch.

Mention should be made of the prizes won by some of the children in the School Arts Book competition. Pearl Cooley of Dana Center and Marion Hanson of the North Dana school received mention for their December work.

I wish to express my appreciation of the interest and co-operation of the teachers and school officials.

Respectfully submitted,

FLORENCE I. GOODENOUGH.

The circulation of books at the Center library has fallen off during the year, owing in part to the traveling libraries, that are loaned to the schools by the Library Association.

We have had two additions during the year from the town appropriation, and many different record and reference books from the state, making a total number of bound books 1440, also a large number of different magazines.

Respectfully,
